Negroes Aid Police Patrol

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some National Guard troops left San Francisco today, underlining official hopes that three days of racial disturbances were near an end.

MATTHEW JOHNSON
His death triggered riot

Maj. Gen. Paul R. Teilh, Guard commander, announced as the troops started for home: "We now have about 1,000 men in the city. At the highest concentration we had 2,000." The strength of troops hereafter, he said, will be determined "on a day-to-day basis."

SNIPERS AT FIRE

Young Negroes volunteered as members of peace patrols today, wearing silver arm bands provided by police. They walked the streets of riot-shaken Hunters Point to try to preserve the uneasy racial truce.

City police confined their augmented patrols to the community's business thoroughfare. A Hunters Point lumber yard fire was quelled last night as guardsmen fanned out to protect firemen from snipers, in almost the only incident in the main riot area.

City officials had the cooperation of federal authorities in their move to eliminate what they call the cause of the riots—Negro unemployment.

MAYOR IS BLUNT

San Francisco Mayor John Shelley, saying he realized he may be jeopardizing his public career, blamed racial discrimination by labor unions and "archaic attitudes" of employer or management groups.

Shelley appealed to all San Franciscans to get home by 10 p.m. and stay there until 6 a.m.

He stressed that he was not placing a curfew on the entire city but asking that all streets be cleared "so that at that inspirational time of dawn we can start work on a creative and exciting program to cure our illness."

The mayor met with San Francisco Negro leaders and promised to talk with both labor leaders and private businessmen in an effort to increase minority opportunities in the city's economic structure.

Shelley's telegram to President Johnson in which he asked for federal funds to attack the "critical unemployment situation" in the Negro areas, resulted in swift action.

LBJ's RESPONSE

President Johnson ordered White House assistant Joseph A. Califano to work on Shelley's request with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Sargent Shriver, director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The weather which had ben in the 90s since rioting broke out Tuesday was expected to be cooler today.

There were no arrests reported in Hunters Point or Fillmore areas to swell the arrest total of 208 adults and 29 juveniles picked up since the racial strife began. And there were no new injuries. That total stands at 42, including two policemen and a fireman.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, after spending Wednesday night in San Francisco, flew back to Los Angeles yesterday. He told newsmen he was satisfied that military and police forces had achieved full control in the riot areas.

A large group of demonstrators, most of them white and many bearded, was broken up by police last night as they paraded with banner reading

SHE'S A REAL DUCHESS

Duchess, owned by Dr. Robert F. Duson, in Durham, N.C., joined 400 searchers in an all-night hunt for little Robert II, 2, after he became lost—and she found him. With the child drowsing safe in father's arms, Duchess obviously felt this morning that her protective duties extend to a bit of face-washing, too.

Eighty-five musicians will present a program of Broadway show tunes under direction of Hugo Rinaldi, announced Mrs. Alexis Tellis, Marin Youth Orchestra chairman.

The Grape Festival is expected to draw crowds to the shopping center area throughout the day. Sale and game booths will operate to raise funds to assist Sunnyhills Home in San Anselmo.

TV Star Drowns In Peru's Jungle

Fleming, 41, was on location in the Tingo Maria area, 340 miles northeast of Lima, an embassy spokesman said.

Fleming, star of the television series "Rawhide," was lost when his canoe capsized in the swift-flowing Huallaga River Wednesday.

Search parties are continuing efforts to recover the body.

Mill Valley School Plan Is Revised

Mill Valley School District's professional council yesterday retracted its controversial proposal that three primary schools be limited to the first three grades.

"Since the board did not accept the proposal, and since it has been widely criticized, the council concluded that a change in the ground rules would be necessary," said Supt. G. R. McConnell, a member of the council.

The council had recommended a combination of K-3 and K-5 schools in its progress report of July 25. The recommendation was based on a school board rule of thumb limiting the size of primary schools to three sections of each grade, explained council president Donna J. Dibble, district guidance consultant.

To back up its revised recommendation, she said, the council will suggest to the board tomorrow that the rule be changed to read: "The minimum acceptable size for elementary schools should be 300 students

Senate Confirms Katzenbach Job

The action was by voice vote and without objection.

However, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., who praised Katzenbach, announced that if Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., had been present he would have voted no.

COMBINED AP & UPI

CAN THO, Viet Nam (UPI) — Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky said today he would never sit down at the bargaining table with the Viet Cong.

He was commenting on a recent statement by Vice President Hubert Humphrey that the Johnson administration is willing to have the Communist insurgents take part in negotiations to end the war.

Ky's statement came at a ceremony installing a new rector at the University of Can Tho in the rice-rich Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

Asked whether he would be willing to sit down with the Viet Cong at peace talks in any future negotiations, the dapper air marshal said: "Never."

He added that in spite of the rash of peace proposals in recent weeks he did not believe talks with Hanoi are any closer than before.

Meanwhile a U.S. infantry unit of 2,500 men landed on the beaches along the central coast today boosting American fighting strength in Viet Nam to 317,500 men.

U.S. jets hit North Viet Nam with 126 multi-plane missions yesterday and concentrated their attacks on areas just north of the demilitarized zone.

B-52s sent tons of bombs through the clouds in raids late Thursday and early today just south of the demilitarized zone and low-flying Canberra fighter-bombers hit in the zone, setting off 20 fires in Communist supply dumps.

The attacks were aimed at crippling Hanoi's 324B Division which is using the DMZ as a staging area to battle Marines for control of precious infiltration routes through South Viet Nam's northern border.

The Marines, with close support from jets and artillery, captured a key North Vietnamese command post just south of the border late Tuesday. They killed 51 Communists, boosting the death toll to 933 confirmed dead and an estimated 1,200 more probably killed in the 10-week operation in Quant jtri.

The South Vietnamese air force is flying one "show the flag" strike about every two weeks against Communist North Viet Nam, informed sources said today.

The sources said the South

Hurricane Smashes Cuba, Guantanamo

Storm May Not Touch On Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Inez attacked eastern Cuba today with screaming, 138-mile-an-hour winds, and in her wet, gloomy wake a blackout of communications concealed a possible human tragedy in Haiti's "Valley of Death."

At 9:30 a.m. (EST), the Miami Weather Bureau received a report that Guantanamo City, at the eastern end of the Communist island, was taking a sustained blow of 138 m.p.h. and that peak gusts might be much more powerful.

HIATI ESCAPES

"I don't see how Haiti could have escaped a disaster," said Gordon Dunn, chief of the Miami Hurricane Center.

Haiti's "Valley of Death" is a deep trough between mountain ranges, reached from the coastal town of Barahona on the Tiburon Peninsula to Port-au-Prince, the capital 150 miles away.

Weakened in her Titanic battle with the mountains of Haiti and the Dominican Republic, Inez had regained much of her ferocity in the water crossing to Cuba.

BASE HAMMERED

The U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay was hammered by sustained winds of 137-mile an hour velocity as the great storm crossed the coast of Cuba's Oriente Province, and Fidel Castro's struggling economy faced a disastrous blow.

But Floridans breathed more easily.

Inez is on a course, Dunn said, which seems destined to keep the killer storm clear of the U.S. mainland. A weakening high-pressure ridge to the north appears to be pulling it into a track that will curve it to the north and then northeast.

"We can't say that with absolute certainty," Dunn said, "but we have real cause to be optimistic."

Waterfront Fire In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A blaze started by a welder's torch set fire to Pier 27 on San Francisco's waterfront today, sending up great plumes of black smoke.

An hour after the fire started it appeared that fire-fighters were gaining control.

There was no report of injury.

Contra Costa Nurses Get Second Pay Hike

County supervisors voted yesterday to increase their pay by 7½ per cent. They had sought another 10 per cent hike. About 160 nurses in Contra Costa County had received a 10 per cent raise earlier.

THE McGORAN CASE

What Happened In Parking Lot?

By ROBERT M. STREBEIGH
(Second of three stories.)

Shortly after 1 a.m. last Oct. 17, a bewildered 45-year-old San Rafael service station owner stood with his wife beside their car in the parking lot of the Confucius Restaurant in Larkspur's Bon Air Shopping Center.

As John H. McGoran Jr. told it to the Independent-Journal, he had just been beaten up by several strangers in the Confucius bar when he went to help a friend he believed was being attacked. Now, he was wondering whether to return to his Corte Madera home and report it to police in the morning, or try to do something about it right away.

At that moment, a Larkspur police car drove up and, according to McGoran, he left his own auto to tell his story to the police.

When he reached the Confucius entrance, McGoran said, he found the uniformed officer, Roland Kirstein, talking to a man in street clothes. McGoran said this was the first he learned that off-duty Larkspur Police Sgt. John F. Cottle had been in the bar when the fight began.

Cottle, however, in his official report stated McGoran had been arrested inside the restaurant, "escorted outside," and turned over to the arriving Kirstein.

Kirstein, who did not file a police report in the case, told the Independent-Journal he was talking to Cottle when McGoran approached from "some place in the parking lot."

Allan Knotts, Mrs. McGoran's brother-in-law who had been present, wrote in a letter to McGoran's attorney: "As we arrived at our cars, a police cruiser pulled up. John and Gloria (the McGorans) went back."

This was one of the curious points in the police report never explored by the district attorney or Larkspur's police chief, but which prompted the Independent-Journal to investigate the McGoran case.

If McGoran had indeed been arrested inside the bar, as Cottle reported, what was he doing later unguarded by his car, debating whether to leave?

Kirstein said McGoran got into the back of the patrol car as requested and Mrs. McGoran seated herself in front. McGoran said he went willingly, because he was "relieved the police were finally on hand and would take my statement and the whole thing get cleared up."

At this moment, Larkspur Patrolman Alasdair W. MacDonald drove up in a second patrol car and joined Cottle and Kirstein in taking statements from those in the bar at the time of the uproar.

According to similar reports submitted by Cottle and MacDonald, McGoran suddenly began making all kinds of trouble: "He climbed into the front seat . . . turning on all the red lights and emergency equipment . . . using the police radio . . . and asking help from the Highway Patrol as he was being held captive at the Confucius bar."

McGoran said he began to have chest pains and believed

City Hall Dedication Tomorrow

San Rafael's new $1 million City Hall will be dedicated tomorrow with a ceremony beginning at 11 a.m. outside the main entrance on Fifth Avenue.

The opening address will be given by Mayor C. Paul Bettini, with invocation by Rev. Thomas I. Kennedy.

The American flag will be presented by the American Legion, Wilkins Post 37, and the California flag by the Native Sons of the Golden West.

Terra Linda High School band will play the National Anthem, after which guests will be introduced by Louis H. Barr, vice mayor.

These will include State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael), Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) and County Supervisor-elect John F. McInnis of the First Supervisorial District.

Following benediction by Rev. Wesley C. Baker, the City Hall will be open for tours by the public.

Auto Assembly Lines Roaring Once Again

DETROIT (UPI) —The nation's auto industry is rolling at high speed again and has produced the biggest output of cars this week since last June, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

The week's 84,523 car and 36,786 truck assemblies were spurred by the showroom introduction of new models and "enthusiastic" public reaction.

Pike Aagain Accused Of Heresy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Auxiliary Bishop James A. Pike of California has been charged with heresy by the Rt. Rev. Henry I. Louttit, bishop of south Florida.

Louttit

Bishop Pike—cleared of heresy charges three times since 1961—was asked by Bishop Louttit to renounce the Episcopal ministry or stand trial before a Church court. Bishop Louttit charged Bishop Pike with violating ordination vows and committing heretical acts.

Louttit said he had received backing from bishops in Albany, N.Y.; Long Island, N.Y.; Tennessee; Montana; Georgia; Dallas, Tex.; Upper South Carolina; Kentucky, and northern California.

Bishop Pike was unavailable for comment.

"For the past several years," Louttit said, "Bishop Pike held and taught publicly and advisedly doctrine contrary to that held by the church set worth in the creeds, the catechism and offices of instruction and the Book of Common Prayer. This teaching has confused, not to say bewildered, many of the faithful laity of the church."

Dizziness Slows HST Recovery

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman has been confined to his home since his return from a hospital where he was taken July 30 suffering from severe colitis.

Truman

Truman's long-time secretary, Rose Conway, said the 82-year-old former president promises to return to his office "any day now."

But friends say Truman suffers dizzy spells, especially when he attempts to walk. He has been ordered by his doctor to move about as little as possible, they say.

The intestinal disturbance two months ago kept Truman in Research Hospital, Kansas City, for six days.

WHITE BACKLASH EFFECTS ARGUED

Segregationists' Wins At Dixie Polls, Continuing Riots Worry Veteran Politicos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some in Congress expect a white backlash among the voters this November. Some say there won't be any such thing.

But Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, says this of the voters: "No one could tell you what they're going to do."

TWO FACTORS

Kirwan has been testing voter reaction for many years. He first took his seat in Congress in 1937.

The talk of a possible white backlash came about because of (1) continuing Negro riots and disorders, currently in California, and (2) the surprise wins by two candidates for Democratic governorship nominations, Lester G. Maddox in Georgia and George P. Mahoney in Maryland.

Maddox went before the voters as the man who closed his prosperous Atlanta restaurant rather than bow to a court order that he must serve Negroes.

Mahoney campaigned in Maryland against proposals designed to open more housing to Negroes. "Your home is your castle — protect it," was his war cry.

Neither was given much chance in advance.

Yet Maddox easily upset a former governor, Ellis G. Arnall. Mahoney's victims included Rep. Carlton R. Sickles. Sickles said a white backlash hurt him, and he said White House people had expressed concern that this was the fact. He added that he had not talked with President Johnson or top presidential advisers.

Still, Sickles said, many national political leaders are concerned about the white backlash. He said it might affect future civil rights legislation.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the House Republican Conference, said he did not think the backlash would or should be a dominant issue.

WAR BLAMED

Laird said Republican polls indicate major issues of voter dissatisfaction are over the handling of the war in Viet Nam and the increase in the cost of living.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, when the backlash issue was raised by a reporter, "I don't think it's the issue it's been played up to be."

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said it's "hard to tell" how much impact the backlash might have.

Congress Ready To Create Transport Cabinet Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson appears sure to have a 12th Cabinet officer soon — a secretary of transportation with fewer powers than the President recommended.

The Senate approved creation of a department of transportation 64 to 2 yesterday.

The House passed similar legislation 336 to 42 on Aug. 30. Leaders said they expect no difficulty in working out a compromise although the Senate version includes the Federal Maritime Administration in the department and the House bill does not.

The bill would bring into one department government policies, functions and operations now carried on by almost 100,000 employes in 35 separate units. At present levels, it would have a $6.3 billion budget, fifth largest in the federal establishment.

Generals Ask Neutral Zone Defoliation

DONG HA, South Via Nam (AP) — Senior American military officers want to defoliate the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam, but they are encountering obstacles.

The high-ranking officers want to use chemicals to kill the leaves of trees and other plants along the zone, depriving North Vietnamese infiltrators of natural cover.

PENTAGON BALKS

The advocates apparently have not cleared the hurdle of Pentagon permission.

The United States now estimates 6,000 men a month are moving into South Viet Nam from the Communist north. Many use the direct route across the demilitarized zone. Others take a longer, more difficult journey through Laos and Cambodia.

Reconnaissance teams working from observation posts on the ground try to keep a watch on the demilitarized zone's traffic, but lack of mobility and need for concealment hamper them.

PLANE CONTROL

The argument is that if all the leaves were killed, small airplanes could take over the job in the daytime. If equipped with infrared spotter scopes, they could even do it at night.

The 1954 Geneva convention which divided Viet Nam into two countries made the demilitarized zone a no-man's land where no military activity was supposed to take place.

Last July 31, the United States began using B-52 bombers from Guam to strike the zone.

Security Council Voices Thant Plea

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U Thant said last night he would give "serious consideration" to the Security Council's desire for him to take a second term as secretary-general of the United Nations.

"That means he will stay," one diplomat remarked. "I think he will not," said another.

The council after a 35-minute private meeting yesterday issued a communique saying if Thant "should express willingness to serve another term, it would fully meet the desires of the members of the council."

Thant later declined to tell reporters when he would come to some conclusion. He referred to his spokesman's statement and said: "That's all I want to say for the moment."

Thant's five-year term expires Nov. 3. He had decided not to offer himself for a second term. But on Sept. 19 he told newsmen he would consider staying until the General Assembly concludes at the end of the year if the council could not find somebody to replace him in the next few weeks.

The secretary-general is named by the General Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council. U.N. diplomats fear that if Thant insists on retiring, the United States and the Soviet Union may take a long time to agree on a successor.

Federal Aide Sees Hospital Rate Boosts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal official predicts that hospital costs may rise 20 per cent this year. At the same time he defended nurses' strikes, which contribute to the rising cost.

Hospital costs have been rising by 7 per cent a year, Dr. Philip R. Lee, assistant secretary for health and scientific affairs for the U.S. Department of Health, said Thursday.

Recent raises for hospital wage increases are one reason costs may rise faster this year, he continued, but, he said, this should make hospitals more efficient.

"Hospitals will be forced to use nurses for nursing and not for sundry other jobs," Dr. Lee told a news conference.

RIOTING

"Burn, Baby, Burn," and "Cops are Murderers."

Police said 121 persons were jailed after they paraded in front of City Hall under the banner of Students for a Democratic Society. Nineteen of those arrested said they attended University of California.

The paraders at City Hall all but broke up an Arts Festival there. Their loud chants of "Arrest the Cops, Not the Kids," almost drowned out the music of the Municipal Band.

Police Sgt. James L. Egan broke up the disturbance and the demonstrators left. But when they formed a straggling parade in the Haight - Ashbury district later, police moved in to make the arrests. They were booked as violating the 8 p.m. curfew imposed during the race disorders.

"I don't feel bad towards the police department . . . but when a kid is running away with his hands up, because he's so afraid, why shoot him in the back?"

That was the question to reporters yesterday by Matthew Johnson, 40, father of the Negro boy whose death triggered two days of racial rioting in San Francisco.

The policeman who shot Matthew Johnson, 16, said the youngster was fleeing from a stolen car and refused to stop despite repeated calls and warning shots.

Johnson disputed a contention by his boy's stepmother that his son would not have been shot had he been white.

"I got friends in the Hunters Point area on the police force," he added. "But if I look and seen it's just a kid, white or black makes no difference, I'm not just agoing to shoot."

Thieves' Trick Loots Three Gas Stations

San Anselmo and Sausalito police were looking today for three men who looted service stations in San Anselmo and Sausalito less than one hour apart last night.

At 6:25 p.m. the three drove into Brogioli's Richfield Service Station at 100 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo, and asked attendant Jack H. Moltd to fix a leaking radiator in their Cadillac.

Moltd told police that while he was under the hood of the car, one of the three entered the station office and took five $5 bills and several $1 bills from the cash register.

Moltd took the car's license number.

A car with the same number, carrying three men with the same description, drove into the Mobil Station at 234 Main Street, Sausalito, at 7:05 p.m.

The men asked station attendant Robert R. Critchfield for carburetor cleaner, and when Critchfield went to look for the cleaner, one of the three took $50 from the office cash register, Critchfield told police.

Useful Men May Be Lost Says Speaker

An education system which rewards only the conforming, verbally gifted child fails in its obligation to the nation, semanticist S. I. Hayakawa declared last night.

The San Francisco State College professor spoke to a crowd of more than 200 in Canoles Hall of San Rafael's First Presbyterian Church. His appearance was sponsored by the San Rafael Education Forum.

He told his audience that the difficult, non-verbal child might be the most valuable to his country and suggested that the ranks of school dropouts be combed for those of imagination and creativity.

These dropouts, he said, might well provide many of their nation's future leaders.

He noted that while the so-called Ivy League schools had produced many leaders through their tradition of training individuals of similar background in similar curricula, that the nation's presidents had included men of little formal education and others from minor schools and colleges.

The present educational system, he said, places too high a value on quiet, well-ordered classrooms, neglecting the potential of more difficult children, whose skills are nonverbal but show valuable talents for arts, crafts and vocational careers.

VIET

Vietnamese are given this token role in the air war against the North because it is "considered proper that they participate." It was made clear that the basis is political rather than military.

However, the sources said the Vietnamese air force is flying 20-25 per cent of all strikes against Communist forces and positions inside South Viet Nam.

McCarthy Sets Marin Rally

State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) will visit six Marin Shopping centers tomorrow on a "round robin rally."

McCarthy, campaigning for re-election on Nov. 8, will visit the Nave Shopping Center in Novato from 12:30 to 1 p.m., then the Novato Shopping Center until 1:40 p.m., Northgate Shopping Center No. 1 until 2:30 p.m., Northgate No. 2 until 3:05 p.m., Corta Madera Shopping Center until 3:50 p.m., and Strawberry Town and Country Village until 4:30 p.m.

In the motorcade of supporters accompanying the senator will be music truck carrying Jerry Jones and his jazz band.

2-Year Old Dashes Into Path Of Auto

A 2-year-old boy, Russell Wade Hartzell of 107 H Street, San Rafael, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with head injuries multiple cuts and bruises suffered yesterday when he was hit by a car in front of 115 H Street.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Alene N. Anderson of 304 H Street, and witnesses in two other cars said the child suddenly darted in front of Mrs. Anderson's southbound automobile, according to San Rafael police. The accident occurred at 3:45 p.m.

McGORAN

he was having a heart attack because of a long-standing cardiac condition.

According to McGoran, he left the car and told MacDonald about his heart attack and asked to be taken to a hospital. MacDonald, he said, ordered him back into the car and he complied.

His pain increased, said McGoran, and he was now, "absolutely sure no help was coming from anyone at the scene." He leaned over the back seat and used the police radio, which was turned on, crying, "California Highway Patrol. Confucius Restaurant. Heart attack case. Please help."

When he reported this to MacDonald, McGoran said, the officer became "very, very angry," ordered him back into the car once more and turned off the radio.

The police reports make no mention of any claim to a heart attack by McGoran or his wife.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony told the Independent-Journal that he later asked Cottle and MacDonald if they had heard any mention of a heart attack and accepted their denial without further inquiry.

Yet, Officer Kirstein, Confucius bar owner Edwin Leong and a by-stander, William McCall of Greenbrae, all have said they heard complaints about a heart attack.

McCall said: "I thought the police were kind of remiss there. If the guy'd really had a heart attack, they'd have been in trouble. There were two police cars there. One of them could have taken him to a hospital."

Again in the back seat, McGoran tried a second time to use the radio, but, he said, unfamiliarity with the switches caused him to set all the red lights flashing. This, McGoran said, "made the officer (MacDonald) so abnormally furious that he struck me across the knees, using his night stick like a baseball bat."

Cottle reported: "Officer MacDonald asked the subject (McGoran) if he would put the microphone down and refrain from using it. He then asked him to get out of the front seat . . . McGoran attempted to tear out the microphone and . . . struck (MacDonald) knocking him back out of the police vehicle."

McGoran said, "The officers were so mad that they got additional help and, with one man holding each arm and one on each leg, the four men dragged me from the police car. They hit and beat and twisted my body for so long it didn't seem the agony would ever stop."

Kirstein confirmed that McGoran was beaten. He said he was never questioned about the incident by the district attorney. Now living in the East Bay, where he is a salesman, Kirstein said, "I've been kept awake nights by this."

After being "forcibly subdued" and thrown in the back seat, McGoran said, he was pistol-whipped across the forehead by MacDonald and then driven to the county jail, where he was booked for disturbing the peace, resisting arrest, assault and battery, battery on a police officer and drunkenness.

Ever since, McGoran has sought a thorough official investigation of the events of that night.

Superior Court To Adopt Master Calendar System

A "master calendar" system will be inaugurated in Marin Superior Court on Oct. 17 in an effort to cope with an increasing case load.

Modeled after a system used by Sonoma and several other California counties, the plan basically will have the presiding judge call a list of ready cases at 9:15 a.m. each Monday.

Jury and over two-day court trials will then be scheduled to start the following day or no later than Wednesday morning in the four superior courts. Shorter trials will be "on call" for available court space from Tuesday morning through Friday.

In the event that a jury or one of the longer court trial cases is not tried, it auomatically goes over to the following Monday's master calendar. If it is not set then, a new calendar date is given.

The system replaces one in which cases are scheduled for a future date, but are often set with one or more other cases—a method called "double-setting"—in case the original one does not actually go to trial.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, current presiding judge, said this has resulted in congestion and uncertainty by attorneys whether their cases will actually go to trial.

Under the master calendar system, he said, attorneys must certify their readiness for trial. Continuances will be granted only upon presentation of affidavits giving good cause, he said, rather than the current method of simply resetting the case on another date.

Judge Wilson said although Marin County's present backlog of untried cases may not be a record, it is sufficiently high to require new methods. Trial calendars are filled until Jan. 1, he said, with criminal cases scheduled at least three a week through next Nov. 21.

Under new procedure, the presiding judge will hold the weekly criminal proceedings calendar immediately after calling the master calendar Monday mornings, then have pre-trial conferences and settlement conferences each Monday afternoon.

Another judge will hear all law and motion matters, plus legal arguments on matters of law not requiring trials, each Monday. A third will hear probate matters of guardianship, estates, and conservatorship, with additional law and motion matters in the afternoon.

The fourth department will handle juvenile matters each Monday.

Judge Wilson said the system, in effect in Sonoma County about three years, has been actively studied by Marin judges and the Marin County Bar Assn. the past two months.

Driver Fined $220

Philip Matthew Moyer, 20 of 3102 Shelter Bay, Alto, was fined $220 and placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. He was arrested by California Highway Patrol on Sept. 17 on Bridgeway in Sausalito.

Marin Students Study Abroad

Four students from Marin County are among the 250 from 18 campuses of the California state college system who have started the fall term in seven countries under the international studies program.

John W. Schiffeler and Katherine Y. Schiffeler of 50 Pine Terrace, Tiburon, students of San Francisco State College, have gone to Taiwan.

Los Angeles State Colilege student David F. Fletcher of 41 Peninsula Road, Belvedere, and Marie A. Dhillon of 27 Sao Augustine Way, San Rafael, a Sonoma State College student, have both gone to Spain.

American Student Expelled For 'Hostile Activities'

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet authorities said today they have expelled an American student for spreading anti-Soviet propaganda.

The Soviet labor paper Trud said Nicholas H. Riegg of the University of Pennsylvania was ousted this month after authorities accused him of working for the American Central Intelligence Agency and engaging in "hostile activities."

Trud said that Donald R. Lesh, a U.S. Embassy secretary who was expelled Sept. 14, had served as a contact man for Riegg. It charged that Lesh also worked for the CIA and subverted African students in Moscow.

The report said Riegg had signed a statement admitting the charges against him.

May Award Contract

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board may award a contract for an addition to the district's main pump station Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the district office. Bids will be taken on the addition at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Highway Planning Tied To Esthetics

The State Division of Highways is not a mechanical monster that bulls its way over the shortest route and at least cost, with no thought to esthetics.

This, in essence, was the message delivered yesterday afternoon at a seminar for the Marin County Planning staff by Robert H. Jahrling, executive assistant at the division of highways office in San Francisco.

TAPE, SLIDES

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker introduced Jahrling with this tongue in cheek comment: "he's going to let us in on how they would like to build highways but never do."

"Esthetics are considered even before the freeway design begins," declared Jahrling. He said consultants in esthetics have been engaged on several highway jobs, although he is not aware of any such consultants having been hired as yet for Route 17, the proposed east-west highway in Marin.

"First, it (the highway) must work," said Jahrling. "And it must be safe. On these points there is no compromise." But beyond that, he said, esthetics is very much a part of highway designing.

WATCH DETAILS

Designers watch such details as uniform tops for retaining walls, continuity of lines without visual breaks, preservation of trees and natural vegetation where possible along median strips, pleasing color combinations for concrete and highway hardware such as signals and light standards, roadside rests and vista points, and "harmony with environment" in general, he said.

Zucker asked Jahrling whether Route 17 on an elevated freeway through San Rafael for example, could be so designed that space beneath the freeway could be used commercially. Zucker suggested the highway division might even consider selling the space beneath the highway for commercial use.

"Then we would be getting into the real estate business," replied Jahrling. "We haven't gone that far yet."

Objections Filed In Kappas Plea

Two objectives have been filed with the Army Corps of Engineers against an application by George Kappas for an extension of time on a permit he has to dredge Rosedale Canal in Richardson Bay. Deadline for objections was yesterday.

Marin County Board of Supervisors has asked the Army Engineers to deny the permit outright on the grounds it conflicts with the Richardson Bay Master Plan and interferes with dredging. The board passed a resolution of objection at its Sept. 13 meeting.

The second objection—by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service—asks for delay in granting the extension pending further examination on its effect on wildlife in the area.

An Army Engineer spokesman said today no decision on the permit extension was likely before the end of the year.

No objection has been received by the corps on an application by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Dewey for permission to place concrete piling for construction of a house in Racoon Strait. Deadline for objections was Wednesday.

Hiring Report Due

The Tamalpais High School district board will hear a report Monday at 8 p.m. in the district office on the hiring of 12 part-time instructional aids for the district.

City Mime Actors Jailed In Denver

DENVER (AP)—Three actors were arrested on obscenity charges following a satirical minstrel show sponsored by the Denver Young Democrats.

Also arrested were the president of the Young Democrats and an employee of the University of Colorado.

The actors charged are Earl L. Robertson, 37; Peter R. Cohon, 25; and William F. Lindyn, 32. All are from San Francisco and are members of a mime troupe there.

Police booked and released on a personal recognizance bond Ed Kahn of Denver, an attorney and president of the sponsoring organization. Paul Gilmartin, 23, of Denver, employed by the physics department of Colorado University, was charged with interference.

Gilmartin and the three actors were released on $300 bonds.

The traveling show was entitled Civil Rights in a Cracker Barrel.

Kahn said the show portrays the plight of poor Negroes. "The language is the language used by these people every day," he said.

Vice squad detectives said they had received complaints of obscenity after a performance of the show Tuesday night.

Board Approves Non-Violence

SALINAS (UPI) —Joan Baez' Institute for the Study of Nonviolence, which has drawn some violent reactions from neighbors, will continue for at least two years.

The Monterey County Planning Commission this week voted to extend the Carmel Valley's school use permit two years. There was only one dissenting vote.

The commission said the institute could henceforth hold weekend sessions, outdoor classes, and increase the size of classes from 20 to 26.

Post Office Urged To Hold Curb Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ronald Brooks Cameron, D - Calif., urged Postmaster General Larry O'Brien today to resist political pressure to begin door mail delivery service to postal patrons receiving curbside service.

In a House speech, Cameron said he understood the Post Office Department is considering reversal of its curbside mail delivery policy prior to the Nov. 8 election under threat of having it rescinded by Congress.

Cameron said he was among House members who tried for months to get the department to review its curbside delivery policy. He said he was satisfied with the validity of the department's reasons, stated in June, for not reversing its position.

The department, he said, estimated it would cost nearly $43 million annually to convert curbside deliveries to door service.

School Boards Set Annual Meeting, Board Elections

Trustee representatives from Marin County school boards will meet during the annual meeting of the Marin County School Boards Assn. next Friday at 8 p.m. to elect three members to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

Terms expiring are those of the late Mrs. Marietta F. Larsen of Woodacre, Roy A. Parks of Tomales and Dr. Walter Way of Ross.

During the dinner meeting, beginning to 7 p.m., the school boards association will elect five new directors, who in turn will elect officers of the association.

Nominated as directors are Ray Barnes of Fairfax School District, Lawrence Goldberg of Kentfield School District, Earl Koehler of Dixie School District and Parks of Tomales High School District.

Outgoing trustees are Goldberg, Mrs. Fay Jensen of Fairfax, Koehler, Parks and Leslie S. Stone of Lagunitas.

Larry Wise of Redwood City, member of the California School Boards Assn. Reorganizational Committee, will outline the restructure of the state organization during the meeting. Irving Breyer, CSBA attorney, will discuss the association's position on teacher negotiation legislation.

Home Group Backs Tree Cutting Limits

The San Anselmo Home Assn. last night endorsed an ordinance to limit cutting of trees, being considered by the city council.

Discussing topics for next year's Congress for Community Progress, the group proposed that school unification and curriculum, park development, commuter problems, tax jurisdictions and possible annexations to the city should be considered.

Sneak Thief Gets $1,000 Gold Ring

Mrs. Ralph Hilton of 107 Laverne Avenue, Homestead Valley, reported to sheriff's officers someone entered her unlocked home and stole a $1,000 white gold diamond-set ring she had left on a window sill above the kitchen sink, deputies said yesterday.

A burglar entered the home of Mrs. Beverly Rube at 921 East Blithedale Avenue, Alto, through an unlocked front door and stole a purse containing $28 in cash, the sheriff's office reported today.

City Studies Possible U.C. Campus Site

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco hasn't given up hope of getting a branch of the University of California.

The city planning department proposed today that U.C. build a $200 million campus, with high rise buildings on a four-block, 40-acre site south of Market Street.

It would be bounded by Mission, Folsom, Sixth and Eighth streets.

There is an old university extension complex just north of Market Street which the planners suggest should be torn down and replaced with housing for both single and married students. The planners also had ideas of purchasing several downtown hotels and remodelling them for student use.

An eight - month study was made in conjunction with the university, which is expected to make a final decision next year after a survey of various Bay Area sites.

Dirty Auto Reported Missing From Lot

A car thief with highly discriminating taste in automobiles was being sought today by San Rafael police in connection with the disappearance of a car belonging to William E. DeLay of 13 Medway Road, San Anselmo.

DeLay described his 1954 Hillman as having a dirty cream body, no license plates, and a hood tied down with rope. He said it must have been towed away from the Salvation Army parking lot at 910 Lincoln Avenue, as it had no generator.

POLITICAL BRIEFS

McGuire Heads Drive To Elect Williams

Attorney E. Warren McGuire of Kentfield, a partner in the law firm of Bagshaw, Martinelli, Weissich and Jordan of San Rafael, has been named Marin County chairman for Spencer Williams, Republican nominee for state attorney general.

Organizational committees are being formed throughout the county and meetings will be announced soon, according to Williams. Campaign headquarters is at 1414 Fourth Street, San Rafael.

PARKINSON KUDOS

Assemblyman William T. Bagley (R-San Rafael) today commended California GOP Chairman, Gaylord B. Parkinson as "the greatest party chairman in all 50 states."

Bagley issued a joint statement with Assemblyman John G. Veneman (R-Modesto) backing Parkinson.

"We have disagreed with him and he with us, but he has done his utmost to hold the party together, and he has succeeded," they said.

"It is the height of hypocricy for the free-spending Brown machine to attack Dr. Parkinson for expending privately raised party contributions while all the governor's lackeys campaign for his re-election while on the public payroll."

BACKS PROP. 3

State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) today endorsed Proposition 3 on the November ballot, the "open space conservation" proposal.

He called the proposal, which would permit assessment reductions for agricultural and undeveloped lands, "the best legislative retort we can make to the progressive destruction of rural life."

Senator McCarthy expressed particular concern for the future, without tax relief, of Marin's western dairylands and the Napa Valley vineyards.

SCHLEI BOOSTER

Hadden W. Roth, San Rafael attorney, has been named Marin County chairman in the campaign to elect Norbert A. Schlei, former assistant U.S. attorney general, to the state office of secretary of state.

McCARTHY AIDES

Two executive appointments for the San Rafael phase of the campaign to re-elect State Sen. John F. McCarthy (R-San Rafael) were announced today. Mrs. Victoria A. Scatena was named headquarters chairman for the women's division of the committee, and Mrs. William Lemmons was named women's publicity chairman.

Nine Marin City Board Members Named To Council

The nine members of the Marin City Target Area Board who will serve on the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council were elected Wednesday night in a joint meeting of Marin City Community Action Committee and the county-wide action committee.

The nine are Arthur Brown, James Quiett, Roger Jones, LeRoy Elder, Ellihue Johnson, Mrs. Mitchell Howard, Mrs. Jean Bearl, Mrs. Gracie Stover and Mrs. Mary Brown. Arthur Brown was named temporary chairman.

The Marin City Target Area Board, replaced the Marin City Community Action Committee, and the Economic Opportunity Council replaced the countywide action committee.

Thirty directors are to serve on the new council, established last week by the board of supervisors. Twelve are to be appointed Tuesday by the supervisors. Nine are to be selected from target areas not yet designated.

U.S. Paying Average $34 For Wrongful Viet Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has paid about $5,650 in compensation to the nearest relatives of 166 Vietnamese civilians killed by 11 misdirected U.S. attacks since July 1 — a rate of $34 per death, Defense Department statistics showed yesterday.

Lesser amounts have been paid to the 252 Vietnamese civilians wounded in the incidents, depending on the extent of their injuries.

The statistics covered incidents caused by inaccurate strikes and those resulting from the accurate bombing of villages incorrectly believed to be harboring enemy troops.

Airplane incidents have been the chief cause of the mistaken killings and injuries, the statistics showed.

Eight times in the past three months bombs have either missed their targets or been dropped under mistaken assumptions, killing 155 persons and wounding 229.

Two incidents of inaccurate artillery fire led to six deaths and eight injuries and, in another case, a helicopter accidentally opened fire on a friendly village, killing 5 and wounding 15.

At least six of the mistaken bombing attacks were requested by South Vietnamese Army officials, the records showed.

Besides retribution for the families of victims, U.S. aid officials have sent blankets, food and other necessities to areas hit in the misdirected attacks.

Medical care is quickly provided for the injured, who often are air-evacuated to nearby military hospitals for treatment.

Device Shifts Treads On Tanks

WARREN, Mich. (SS) — A device that makes it possible to shift tank treads around in the same way as automobile tires are rotated to distribute wear may save the U.S. Army as much as $4.5 million a year that it now spends on replacement treads.

The current tread unit, called the T97E2, must be completely replaced when it wears out, which it does after about 2,200 miles. This considerable expense has prompted the Army to spend more than $600,000 in the past 13 months developing a solution.

The solution is called the T142. It is not only the first rotatable track shoe designed for a heavy vehicle, but it has a life expectancy of more than 5,000 miles.

Riot Causes Rumor Unrest In City Jail

SAN BRUNO (UPI)—News of Negro rioting in San Francisco was responsible in part for a 40-minute disturbance at San Francisco County Jail No. 2 Thursday, according to Sheriff Matthew C. Carberry.

However, there were no injuries and damage was confined to one flaming mattress worth about $20, he said. Seven inmates were placed in isolation cells as a result of the outbreak.

State Court Rules Police Can Not Interrupt Phones

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Police can not stop telephone service merely because they believe a law is being broken, California's Supreme Court ruled yesterday.

Justices suggested the 18-year-old rule could be amended to conform with constitutional protections against unlawful search and seizure. At a minimum, they said police should be required to obtain authorization from an impartial tribunal to terminate service.

Involved was the case of Edgar J. Sokol, who in 1961 lost telephone service at his private club in San Francisco.

Sokol said he was operating a legal race tipping service for members and not taking bets. The PUC ruled, after a hearing, that there was no evidence his telephone was used for illegal purposes.

Sokol sued Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. for $40,000 in damages to his business. He also filed a suit challenging the constitutionality of the commission ruling under which he lost the telephone.

The court rejected Sokol's damage suit, saying the company was observing a mandatory PUC ruling.

Sheep Cause Span Collapse; Girl, 10, Dies

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI)—A 10-year-old girl was killed and three adults injured yesterday when part of a 300-foot suspension footbridge over the Colorado River collapsed under the weight of a herd of sheep.

The girl, Vaniel Bair, was killed by a heavy steel cable which snapped and caught her across the head. Authorities said she suffered immediate fatal head, chest and neck injuries. The force of the cable lifted her from the bridge and tossed her into the river.

OTHERS HURT

Injured were her father, J. Golden Bair, 54, who fell 15 feet into the water, a cousin, Jack M. Bair, 50, and Mrs. Roy Mosher, 32, of Eagle, Colo. Despite a broken foot, Bair swam to where his daughter was thrown and recovered her body.

Coroner Jack Farnum said the cable broke from a metal eyelet when 65 to 70 head of fall lambs began to cross the bridge. Jack Bair was near the end that collapsed and was tossed into some trees on the shore. Mrs. Mosher, who was bringing the girl home from school early because the child became ill, suffered bruises.

About 10 of the lambs were killed or had to be destroyed when they fell with the bridge, officials said.

Undersheriff Les Eccher rode across the river and picked up the girl's mother who was placed under sedation at Valley View Hospital in Glenwood Springs for shock. The bridge was the only means of access to the ranch.

Drug Firm Loses Suit Over Retarded Child

FARGO, N.D. (UPI) — Like any other parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stromsodt wanted to protect their infant son, Shane, against such diseases as whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and polio.

In August of 1959, when Shane was 4 months old, they arranged for him to receive an injection of quadrigen, a drug supposed to immunize against those diseases.

He received another shot a few months later. By January 1960, only six months after the first shot, the boy's parents began to fear that his learning processes were slower than normal.

Today Shane Stromsodt is 7 years old. He is unable to speak. When he walks, he frequently falls.

Yesterday Federal Judge Ronald M. Davies ordered the Parke-Davis Co of Detroit, the drug manufacturer, to pay the family $500,000. Davies ruled the drug company had been guilty of negligence.

A spokesman for Parke-Davis said he assumed the half-million dollar award would be appealed. The drug was taken off the market in 1961.

Mrs. Stromsodt said the money would be used to help Shane "as much as we can with his education. But no amount of money can ever replace him."

After wheat was cut and stacked in fields, threshers separated the grain from the straw and the wheat from the chaff. Threshing crews and machines now are largely things of the past.

Marin Patrolmen, Guard Go Off Alert

California Highway Patrolmen from Marin were on alert last night for any call to assist San Francisco police, but their help was not required as an uneasy peace returned to that riot-torn city.

For Marin's National Guardsmen, returning order across the Bay meant a return to the routine of jobs and homelife. The night before the 58 men of Company E of the 579th Engineer Battalion had spent the night at the armory in Santa Venetia, ready to go to San Francisco on a moment's notice.

Two Nazis End Terms; Hess Alone In Spandau

BERLIN (AP) — Two more of the Nuernberg trial war criminals go free at midnight tonight, leaving Rudolf Hess the only Nazi prisoner in West Berlin's Spandau Prison.

Baldur Von Schirach, the first leader of the Hitler youth movement and later the Nazi gauleiter of Vienna, completes a 20-year sentence for complicity in the murder of 50,000 Austrian Jews and providing slave labor for the German war effort.

Albert Speer, a brilliant architect who ran the Third Reich's armament industry, has served the same term for using slave labor and prisoners of war in the Nazi production machine.

As they walk out of the sprawling prison into the glare of television and camera lights, Hess, Hitler's onetime deputy fuehrer, will become the only inmate of the fortress-like prison built by the Prussians to hold more than 600.

Hess, 72, is serving a life term for inciting and carrying out aggressive war and plotting against peace. The British, French and Americans have asked the Soviets to agree to his transfer to a smaller jail, but the Soviets have shown no sign of agreeing. In one of the last remnants of four-power occupation cooperation, the four World War II allies run Spandau at a cost of $100,000 annually to the West Germany government.

Von Schirach, 59, lost the sight of one eye in prison and was divorced by his wife in 1950.

He is expected to live near Munich and write his memoirs.

Speer, 61, has been described as a model prisoner.

He will live with his wife in Heidelberg and plans to resume his career in architecture, specializing in house design, his lawyer said.

The two men spent 7,305 days in prison following the collapse of Hitler's Reich.

Twenty-two top Nazi leaders were tried in 1946 by the International War Crimes Tribunal at Nuernberg. Twelve were sentenced to death, but only 10 died on the gallows. Hermann Goering committed suicide and Martin Bormann has never been found. Seven were sent to Spandau and three were acquitted.

Stinson Beach Board Thanks Fire Fighters

Stinson Beach fire commissioners Wednesday thanked the county fire department, Bolinas and Olema volunteer fire departments and individual volunteers for their help Tuesday in fighting a 100-acre fire on the ridge above Bolinas Lagoon. It took 48 firemen and seven airplanes "bombing" with chemicals three hours to control the fire.

GABERONES, Botswana (AP) — Sir Seretse Khama, once exiled from his country for six years because he married a white woman, was sworn in today as president of the new republic of Botswana.

Khama took the oath of office 10 hours after his southern African country got its independence from Britain.

Car Makers Hike Costs By A Billion

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. hiked prices on its 1967 cars an average of $56 today, joining Ford and Chrysler in a price pattern that could boost consumer spending a billion dollars.

The price hikes by GM, which produces about half the cars sold in the U.S. each year, ranged from $29 to $89 for various models less than Ford's $52 to $348 range and Chrysler's hike range of $39 to $359. It averaged $56.

Like its competitors, GM said the higher prices were necessary because of safety items and other equipment which were made standard on 1967 models. They previously were optional.

But the higher prices, whether justified or not by the safety features and other improvements, could push consumer spending up nearly a billion dollars, based on anticipated sales of about 9 million 1967 model cars.

The new models go on sale Sept. 30.

Only American Motors Corp., which produces less than 2 per cent of U.S.-made cars, has not yet announced its prices.

President Johnson had urged car makers to hold the price line despite new safety features. He told a news conference yesterday he "had hoped that these businessmen could have foregone the necessity of increasing prices."

"I asked that they do that," Johnson said. "But they are free to make their own prices and they did. We are now analyzing what effect it will have on the economy."

The administration fears a dose of higher car prices could fan the inflationary fires which Johnson is trying to extinguish.

Unlike Ford and Chrysler, GM said its "passenger car price adjustments are less than the 1966 option prices for those items made standard equipment in 1967 plus an adjustment for the cost of product improvements."

In computing their price hikes, Ford and Chrysler used the 1966 retail price of the formerly optional items. Price-tags on options generally carry a 40 per cent profit.

The lower GM price increases gave the company, already the world's largest manufacturer, significanty lower pricetags on some models compared with their Ford and Chrysler counterparts.

Washington sources speculated on the possibility of the Senate Commerce Committee holding hearings next month to determine if auto price increases are inflated and unfair.

Chrysler said yesterday it will raise the prices of its cars an average of $92 a car, with increases ranging from $39 to the suggested cost of a Dodge Dart convertible to $359 for Chrysler "300" hardtops. The price of the sportly Charger was reduced by $12.

The Chrysler announcement came as President Johnson and United Auto Workers president Walter P. Reuther criticized a similar announcement by Ford.

On Tuesday Ford announced price increases averaging $117 per car within a range of $52 to $376.

San Anselmo Station Manager Misses $434

William E. Rock, manager of the Herbst Service Station at 400 Red Hill Avenue, San Anselmo, found $434 missing from the station Sunday.

Rock said he found the station closed, and a note taped to the office door which read "closed due to death in the family." A new employee had been in charge of the station Saturday night.

Higher Sewer Rate Sought For Hamilton Base Homes

The Novato Sanitary District board wants an increase in the sewage charge in Raphael Village and on Hamilton Air Force Base.

The board last night authorized Charles Joseph, district engineer-manager, to negotiate with base officials for a higher rate.

Joseph said the rate was set at $1.33 per dwelling unit in 1960 and has dropped each year since with lowering of the district's tax rate, until it is now 73 cents per month.

The Novato Sanitary District board also:

1. Authorized purchase of two mobile radios, not to cost more than $1,400.

2. Approved paying Peter Guerrieri $1,000 for an easement on the Ignacio project.

3. Heard that plans for the centrifuge machine were nearly completed and asked that they be referred to John Jenks, district consulting engineer.

San Marin Luau Nets About $400

The San Marin Improvement Assn. netted approximately $400 on a luau it held on Sept. 17, it was reported last night to the board of directors.

The money will be turned over to the Novato Civic Foundation.

The association board voted to write Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-First District, protesting the requirement to put mail boxes at curbs.

It authorized preparing a directory of names, addresses and telephone numbers of all residents of San Marin to be distributed free to all residents.

It voted to ask Sunset International Petroleum Corp. to put a tonnage limit on San Marin Drive.

Brown Hit On Farm Claims; Anti-Judge Mailer Explained

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. Brown stood accused today of deliberately misleading voters into thinking things were going pretty well down on the farm.

Four Republican assemblymen issued a joint statement which referred to Brown's comments on agriculture, made on television Wednesday night.

Assemblymen Robert T. Monagan of Tracy, Alan Pattee of Salinas, John G. Veneman of Modesto and Victor V. Veysey of Brawley said:

"In his commercial, the governor said that agriculture income was up in 1965. What the governor failed to point out is that California farmers suffered a net per-farm income decline between 1964 and 1965 of 8.3 per cent. California was one of only four states suffering such a decline."

Meanwhile, spokesmen for Brown's Republican opponent for governor, Ronald Reagan, were explaining how 30,000 unauthorized leaflets got mailed to Long Beach area Republicans. Reagan campaigners removed another 15,000 leaflets from unmailed envelopes.

A Reagan spokesman said the Republican candidate wants voters to decide for themselves on the justices and did not approve of the inadvertant enclosures.

Art Guy, Long Beach area campaign manager for Reagan, said a man brought in the enclosures and asked a woman campaign worker to put them in with pamphlets appealing for Reagan campaign funds. She did, without advising campaign officials.

Brown cancelled a scheduled appearance this morning at a campaign breakfast in San Francisco with Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass. and decided to stay in Southern California.

Brown will join Kennedy in a visit to Democratic headquarters in Los Angeles during the afternoon.

Reagan was to campaign at an aircraft firm in Chula Vista, holds staff meetings and addresses a San Diego County GOP central committee dinner.

One reason Brown passed up the Kennedy breakfast was his trip to San Francisco Wednesday night to visit areas hit by racial riots. He returned south yesterday.

Brown — labelled "Mr. Flip-Flop" by Reagan earlier—accused Reagan of a flip-flop on federal aid to education. Brown said Reagan's "latest flip-flop" was when Reagan's "script writers decided he should play a new role, that of the friend of federal aid."

Until Tuesday, Brown said, Reagan was against federal aid to education.

In San Diego, imposition of tuition at the state university would mean a "double tax" against California parents, Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson said last night.

Anderson said it would hit "those parents who have for years made possible, through their tax dollars, the tuition-free concept."

Indonesian Trial Has High Public Interest

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—More than 5,000 persons have applied for permission to attend the trial of Indonesia's former foreign minister, Dr. Subandrio. Only 400 seats are available.

The trial begins tomorrow night. Subandrio, who steered this country into a tight alliance with Communist China during his nine years in power, will be tried on charges of subversion and corruption.

No Cameras Or Recorders At Dr. Sam's Second Trial

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Cuyahoga County Common Pleas judge Francis J. Talty today revealed details of ground rules governing news coverage of the second trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

Barring a change of venue, Sheppard is scheduled to go on trial Oct. 18. charged with second degree murder in the 1954 slaying of his first wife, Marilyn. The U.S. Supreme Court invalidated his original conviction.

His ruling conforms with that laid down by Presiding Judge Roy F. McMahon who appointed Talty as trial judge two weeks ago.

McMahon had ordered courtroom seats during any of the Sheppard proceedings distributed on a "first come first served" basis. He prohibited the use of cameras, sound recording equipment, special telephones and teletype machines on two floors of the building.

Working Mother Part 11

Child Care Needs

By LOIS BENJAMIN

Eleventh of 12 articles based on the best-selling book, "So You Want To Be a Working Mother!"

The fact that there is a crying need for more and better and cheaper child-care arrangements for all of us has been recognized by government committees and social welfare authorities for years. But so far nothing much is being done. Only two cities, New York and Philadelphia, and one state, California, have had large-scale public day-care program for any considerable time.

A special committee on Home and the Community, set up in 1963 by the President's Commission on the Status of Women, noted the ironic fact that while licensed private day nurseries usually charge fees, which puts them way out of reach for low-income families, the few day-care services that do exist are usually limited to low-income families, putting them out of reach for the great majority of middle-class mothers.

Don't expect any help from Uncle Sam or the boss. The maximum tax deduction allowed for child care is still $600—and no family whose income is over $5,100 a year can claim even a penny of that.

Even the AFL-CIO doesn't consider it enough, not by a long shot. A 1961 conference sponsored by the union urged that the entire cost of child care be made deductible as a business expense for working mothers, in the same way that a working father can deduct the cost of anything that helps him earn a living.

Now that's more like it. The only hitch is that nobody cares enough to make any of it come true. The prevailing opinion, in Congress and out, is still that a working mother's career is a luxury she chooses to indulge herself in, and luxuries are unnecessary things a lady has to pay taxes on.

Lots of other countries have managed to come up with clever schemes for easing a working mother's lot, at least in the budget and child-care departments. They don't do it to be nice; they do it because they need those mothers in the labor force.

Take the Soviet Union. As soon as a Russian working woman discovers she's pregnant, the government starts showering her with cash benefits, free and first-rate medical care, long prenatal leaves on full salary, and assurances that everybody up there likes her even better than they did before.

It doesn't stop after little Ivan is born either. He is cared for by pediatricians, trained nursemaids, teachers, and social workers in a bright, well-equipped nursery next door to his mother's office or factory; his mother is entitled to a half-hour nursing break every four hours.

In Denmark there's a law requiring any company with more than 25 women workers to provide a special nursing room along with a ladies' lounge. In Switzerland, where the two-hour noonday family meal is a national institution, working mothers get three hours off for lunch; the extra one is for getting home and whipping up a fabulous mess of mistkratzerli (roast chicken and potatoes) for the kinder.

SOME AMERICAN companies still require instant resignation if an employee becomes pregnant; most consider it generous to offer a woman a maternity leave without pay.

We are not a country in which social insurance laws will ever insist on rewarding a woman just for becoming a working mother. But then, most of us are not looking for a reward—just a small reduction in the price.

It has begun to happen here too; wherever a working mother is needed badly enough, a way is found to entice her back to work. If only there were enough critical staff shortages to go around!

Not that day-care centers attached to offices or plants are the ideal solution. In spite of the convenience for mothers, most experts tend to frown on industry - connected nurseries. They have a point, too. Johnny's days are best spent close to home, where he can make friends with children nearby, and where he can grow his own roots as a member of the community.

THE DAY - CARE CENTER or nursery school ought to be

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

'Equal Opportunity' Campaign Might Offset Jealous Routine

DEAR HELEN:

Why is it boys can discuss other guys on the team or in the classroom, and say really cutting things, but nobody accuses them of being jealous—they're just analyzing, or something.

But if a girl says anything about another girl, and not that bad either, the guys quick say "You're just jealous!"

It's no wonder we have to stoop to being catty, because boys are too dense to catch on to cattiness . . . like when Nan says, "I always did love that formal on you, Cindy," a boy doesn't know Cindy is being chopped to pieces.

We can't come right out and say we don't like Cindy because she's got a big mouth, or Nan is a zonk (drip), or Betty is a hog-caller (boy-chaser). If you say any of these, the boys give you a raised eyebrow and call you green-eyes.

I think you should start an "equal opportunity" campaign for girls, Helen. — LU-ANNE

DEAR LU:

Good idea, but males being males, and females being forever feminine, "equal rights" will always be shot full of loopholes.

That old manly comeback, "You're just jealous" makes me furious too, Lu-Anne, but if a boy treated you like another boy, you wouldn't like it either.

Besides, if you had total equality, look who'd be getting "greetings" from the President. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have been going with a boy for a year and I also have a real good girl friend.

She is a funny type girl. Around other girls, she's fine, but when she's around boys she acts stuck up and snobby. She doesn't want me going with this boy, and she thinks she has got us broken up.

My boy friend doesn't like her and so I told him I'd broken up with her. And I told her I'd broken up with him.

I have got myself in the middle of a big mess. I've lied to both of them, and if either finds out I'll lose them both. What'll I do? — TROUBLED

DEAR TROUBLED:

Your girl friend might not be so jealous if you found her a boy friend, and your boy friend might start liking her better if she learned she could attract males and therefore didn't need to pretend she hated them.

Get her interested in the opposite sex, and your troubles may be over. I don't say it will be easy, but keep trying. — And stop lying! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The fella who signed himself "Not Hunting a Huntress' gave an accurate description of a too-large percentage of girls today. They are so anxious to be happy and popular and sexy at all costs, and to prove their popularity by having some guy — they don't much care who — that they practically smother the poor male who senses he's not being admired for himself, but just because his presence proves the girl is "with it."

I am in this problem group myself. I am a bewildered girl who sees all this and can't understand it — a huntress who doesn't even want the game, just the trophy.

— SYMPATHETIC HUNTRESS

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with "Not Hunting a Huntress" that girls hang all over boys and are too agressive sometimes. But look at it from our side. We're dependent on the boy to ask us out and repeat the invitation. We have to act friendly or he won't.

We want to be sure we have a boy to take us around, and one we won't lose to a "warmer" girl. So we act like we like them, and then they stab us in the back by calling us "huntresses." We want security, a "steady."

I'd like to see a boy just once who wasn't a "hunter." Why else do they suggest nice rides in the country and drive-in movies? I'm for acting friendly, but not that friendly!

— HUNTRESS NOT HUNTING A HUNTER

WORKING MOTHER—

neighborhood-based and neighborhood - managed: schools,' churches, apartment - house projects, and other community organizations ought to work with and for such home-grown services, and with and for the parents who use them.

This doesn't mean that business and industry should wash their hands of the whole day-care problem. All of us need some or all of these fringe benefits some or all of the time; flexible hours, part - time work schedules, time off when children are ill or have to adjust to a new day-care arrangement, adequate tax deductions to make it financially sensible to work and have a family too, and some sort of mother-care program to keep maternity leave from being a financial crisis.

The crux of it all is that if a working mother is worth employing, she's worth the concessions it takes to keep her contented, productive, and efficient at both her jobs.

MARIN FILM FARE

'Pawnbroker,' French Classic Paired; 'Oklahoma!' Returns

By LES DARD

No doubt about it. If you're after entertainment this fine weekend, the Marin area movie houses are the first place you should look.

FAIRFAX THEATER

Now on screen are two films completely different in every respect except excellence.

"The Pawnbroker" has Rod Steiger playing the title role in a grim and shattering tale of a man who wants to withdraw from humanity.

His nightmarish existence as owner of a pawnshop in Spanish Harlem serves only to bring back memories of a Nazi concentration camp in which all the rest of his family died.

Finally, though, he painfully realizes that he must love his fellow man.

Geraldine Fitzgerald, Jaime Sanchez, Brock Peters and Thelma Oliver are also featured.

The co-feature, "The Umbrellas of Cherbourg," winner of five international awards, is in quite another vein. It is the beautiful and touching French rendition of a classic love story that won't soon be forgotten.

LARK THEATER

Harvey continues his same role from the first film: If you remember, Harvey was an unscrupulous but singlemindedly ambitious heel who pushed and shoved his way to the top of the heap. Here, he's just finding out that life at the top can be just as nasty as the way up.

SEQUOIA THEATER

Gregory Peck teams up with Sophia Loren in "Arabesque," an intriguing new suspense entry now playing.

Peck is called in by an Arab millionaire to decode a message written in hieroglyphics. Before he's through he's been bounced through an intricate web of plots and counterplots.

NOVATO THEATER

Mix Audrey Hepburn and Peter O'Toole with a touch of romance, a dash of comedy and enough suspense, and you have William Wyler's latest tour de force: "How To Steal A Million."

Art forger Hugh Griffith in the guise of a philanthropic collector, complete with Napoleon III beard, lends a fake "Cellini Venus" to an art museum, only to discover that it will be chemically tested for authenticity.

The only way out seems to be a plan hatched by Audrey, his daughter. She and private eye O'Toole (whom she takes for a society burglar) set out to steal the forgery before the experts get to it.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"The Russians Are Coming, The Russians Are Coming" is here.

Behind that unlikely title is a study of misunderstanding sparked by the running aground of a Russian submarine on an island off Massachusetts.

Things start hopping when the inhabitants become convinced that the sub's shore party is the first invasion force of World War III.

MOTOR MOVIES

NORTHGATE THEATER

"Oklahoma!" the first picture to be made in Todd-AO, and a stunning musical, is now making a return appearance.

Shirley Jones and Gordon MacRae have the top roles, with Rod Steiger, Eddie Albert and Gloria Grahame also contributing.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

There's "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof," Tennessee Williams' powerful story of a dying Southern family, and the sizzling "Butterfield 8," from John O'Hara's best-seller.

RAFAEL THEATER

In the first it's up to Bond to thwart the evil designs of a mad nuclear scientist who's out to rule the world by force. In the second he has to stop Auric Goldfinger, a criminal genius who has masterminded a plot to rob Fort Knox.

101 DRIVE-IN

Kim Novak plays the title role of a lusty heroine who makes good without being good in 18th Century England.

Sharing top billing are Richard Johnson, Angela Lansbury, Vittorio De Sica, George Sanders and Lili Palmer.

Marinites Win Prizes In San Francisco Art Fete

A Santa Venetia advertising designer and a Mill Valley metal sculptor are among the artists awarded prizes by the San Francisco Art Commission in connection with the current arts festival in that city's Civic Center Plaza.

Tony Williams of Santa Venetia won a $125 fine arts award for his acrylic on canvas, "Color Space No. 5." Victor Ries of Mill Valley received a merit award in the crafts division for a metal wall sculpture.

Williams, freelance advertising designer with studios at his home at 761 Del Ganado Road and in San Francisco, turned to fine arts about two years ago. He is a member of the Terra Linda Art Assn. and last summer won first and third prizes in that group's art show at Northgate Shopping Center.

Ries, who lives at 420 La Verne Drive, is a metalsmith who has gained an international reputation for his liturgical art. He has filled commissions for over 30 churches and synagogues in the East as well as in California and has been exhibited in numerous galleries and museums.

Rare Metal Plays Vital Role In TV

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—A pink-tinged white powder is one of the mining industry's hottest products these days. It's coloring television red.

Called europium, and belonging to the rare-earth family of metallic elements, the powder has come into fantastic demand by the makers of color TV sets.

Producers of europium are selling every ounce they can produce at $650 to $750 a pound—nearly twice the going price for gold.

One major company in the field, Molydenum Corp. of America, is jumping production from 12,000 pounds to 20,000 pounds a year and is sold out through 1968.

Only a few grams of the material are needed to treat a TV tube. So the relatively small output is still able to supply enough for millions of television sets.

Incredibly, just two years ago there was practically no demand whatever for europium. The world production was only a few hundred pounds. Then came the discovery that it could reproduce a brilliant red image on TV screens.

Europium, curiously enough, has been around a long time. It was discovered back in 1896 by a French chemist, Eugene DeMarcay, who some years before had lost an eye in a laboratory explosion. DeMarcay was a specialist in analyzing minerals by their color spectra, a task that requires depth perception. Somehow he was able to overcome the handicap of a lost eye, which greatly hinders depth perception, and go on to his discovery. Later, he helped Madame Curie confirm the fact that she had isolated a new element—radium.

What makes europium a big splash on TV is its property as a phosphor. Its crystals give off a sharp red light when excited by radiation.

In today's color TV sets, the red color is being further enhanced by mixing yttrium oxide and vanadate, both fairly rare minerals, with europium oxide. The color green is transmitted via cadmium sulfide and blue through zinc sulfide.

One of the latest manufacturing processes involves painting hundreds of thousands of dots on each TV tube screen with these materials. Through the use of fine-mesh screens, the dots are all precisely aligned so that red, green and blue colors are reproduced in an integrated and fairly true fashion.

Each of the dots lights up in response to a particular intensity of electrons bombarding them from the cathode, or light source, at the heart of the TV tube.

After several false starts, scientists now think this is the best approach to color TV and that the technique can be further refined. They are expecting both better and cheaper sets in the future.

One set maker is reported preparing to introduce a model with a "face plate" or exterior screen on its color tubes. The screen — also dotted with the same color reproducing materials—is intended to permit ultra fine color tuning. It may not be cheap, though.

The price break on color sets isn't expected until the supply exceeds the demand. Industry sources say the amount of europium and yttrium (at $50 per pound) used in a set isn't much of a cost factor. The thing that makes them more expensive than black and white TV is extra electronic gear to pickup and amplify color signals.

This equipment adds about $50 to $100 to the manufacturing cost of a set. A color set retailing at less than $200, or half the current price, is definitely in the cards, experts claim, once the market becomes saturated. But that may take a year or so.

Firemen Routed By Rock Barrage

MENLO PARK (AP)—Negroes threw fire bombs at the Foodland Market in East Menlo Park last night and several policemen and firemen were hit by flying bottles and rocks.

The store fire was extinguished with minor damage but the onslaught of thrown missiles became so troublesome that firemen were ordered to leave.

Four men were arrested, including Paldee Clayton, 39, of San Francisco.

The Negroes, according to police, were angry at the food market owner because he had called police to clear away non-customers lounging around the entrance earlier this week.

One important ingredient for a happy marriage is to continue courtship by taking her out to dinner on a regular basis. Plan for this, and remember it's never too late to start a good habit.

Four Arrested After Taking Pair Of Autos

Joyrides in stolen cars early yesterday by four teen-agers led to charges of car theft and jailing of the oldest, Richard B. Deem, 18, of 814 Hacienda Way, Santa Venetia.

One 14-year-old and a 16-year-old were sent to juvenile hall for car theft and a second 14-year-old, similarly charged, was turned over to his father.

Shortly after midnight, according to San Rafael police, the youths stole a station wagon belonging to Heinz W. Klee, parked outside his apartment at 30 Novato Street. They drove around the Canal Street area and at about 2 a.m. hit a parked car belonging to Milton T. Hatton of 105 Canal Stre et. Klee's station wagon was abandoned there.

The next car stolen was William W. Robinson's 1961 Volvo from in front of his home at 50 Sonoma Street, which was driven to Santa Venetia and back to Mission and Lincoln avenues, where it was abandoned.

The youths were on foot when picked up on E Street between Third and Fourth streets at 3:30 a.m. by Officer Sherwin W. Hool for violation of curfew.

Highlands Talks Slated Monday

Difference on riding trails, setbacks and proposed cluster housing in the Marin Highlands Development near Novato may be ironed out before the matter gets before the County Board of Supervisors.

Members of the Marin Highlands Homeowners Assn. Roberts and Aguirre, the developers, and Supervisor William A. Gnoss will meet at 4 p.m. Monday in Gnoss's office to discuss the differences, according to Earl A. Jacobs of 20 Santa Maria Drive, president of the association.

Jacobs said the developers has built houses on equestrian trails which were shown in the original subdivision map and has not developed the trails as agreed. He said the association also opposes the developer's request for reduction of front yard setbacks and for cluster housing.

Scientists Predicting Sex Of Unborn Babies

By SCIENCE SERVICE

ALBANY, N.Y. — The sex of 39 babies has been predicted here with 100 per cent accuracy by microscopic examination of fluid cells removed from the mother's womb.

The amnionic fluid samples used in the study were obtained from pregnant women sensitized to Rh-antigen and undergoing perforation of the uterus so that the fetal well-being could be evaluated.

In spite of the accuracy of the test, the Albany Medical Center scientists who did the research said they do not recommend its use "to satisfy the curiosity of parents concerning the sex of the unborn baby, since the aspiration of amnionic fluid is not without danger to the mother and to the fetus."

NUCLEUS CHECKED

The fluid is removed from the mother's womb by passing a small hollow needle through her abdomen into the amnionic sac and removing the fluid through the needle into a syringe. A fetus is scored as male when no sex chromatin bodies are seen in cell nuclei, and as female when one sex chromatin body in identified in the nuclei of cells.

Reporting in the New England Journal of Medicine, the researchers say the test "may be helpful to the geneticist and obstetrician in the diagnosis of sex-linked hereditary diseases and thus become an important tool in preventive eugenics."

IN SIXTH MONTH

The earliest prediction was made in the sixth month of pregnancy, and most predictions were made during the seventh or eighth month. The test could have numerous uses eugenically. One example would show such recessive sex-linked hereditary diseases as hemophilia and pseudoglioma with severe mental deficiency, where in certain circumstances, the sex of the baby might be an indication for or against a therapeutic abortion.

Prenatal determination of sex also may be important in sex-limited diseases such as testicular feminization of a male fetus. In cases of this kind, it may be possible to develop treatment of the mother during pregnancy to change the internal hormonal environment of the fetus that causes the feminization.

The senior investigator was Dr. Anthony P. Amarose, 34-year-old research associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology. Collaborating were Dr. Arthur J. Wallingford Jr., assistant instructor and Dr. E. Jurgen Plotz, professor and department chairman.

Cycle Taken

Senate Returns Reservist Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate returned the $58 billion defense appropriation bill to the House yesterday with the insistence a record vote be made on a rider to permit the callup of reservists with less than two years active duty.

The Senate action, by voice vote, was made following a request for it by chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

Does that lawn get you down? Is it too big? What about the man who takes care of all that grass on a golf course? You can read about what it takes to keep a golf course green in tomorrow's Marin Magazine. Photos and story tell just what kind of work is involved at the Meadow Club in Fairfax. Maybe after seeing what Golf Supt. Donald J. Baker's duties are, you won't complain so much about that little lawn.

Friendship sloops have made history on the East Coast, but they have only recently come to Marin. McKie Roth, with a boat shop at Marshall on Tomales Bay believes he is the only man on the Pacific Coast building the sloop. The ships were the workhorse of the Maine lobster fleets in the last century. Now they are in demand as a pleasure boat. Read about Roth and the sloop he builds in tomorrow's Marin Magazine.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1966 — 25

DOES SAN RAFAEL NEED A CHARTER?

Revision Committee Member Proposes Abolition In Favor Of General Law Status

By FRANK FARRARA

Should San Rafael continue to operate under a charter, or should it abolish the charter and operate under general law?

A member of the city's charter revision committee suggested last night that the question should be put to the voters.

Committee member Thomas P. Boyd said, "I'm not saying I'm in favor of abolishing the charter, but I suggest that it be presented to the voters as an alternative to amending the charter."

OTHER OPINION

Chairman Roy M. Michael said the committee's job is to make recommendations on revising portions of the charter, "not the charter as a whole."

The question of whether the city continue with a charter or operate under general law is basic, Boyd said. "If you started from scratch and had nothing, charter or general law would be the first decision."

The people should have the right to consider the alternatives, Boyd contended.

ELECTION CHANGES

Just before Boyd's bold suggestion, the committee indicated it favored eliminating the charter article on elections and replacing it with general law provisions on elections.

Members did not vote on the matter, but referred it to their legal adviser, E. Warren McGuire, for study.

At the start of its session, the committee met with two members of the San Rafael Library Board, Mrs. Eleanor G. Murray, president, and James Goodale, and Mrs. Vivian Smith, librarian.

Goodale made a strong plea that the libary board continue as an "independent unit."

TAX ISSUE

Michael said proposed charter revisions would leave the board with the same independence and the same authority that it has now.

Committee members have agreed that the minimum library tax rate of .7 of a mill be eliminated from the charter, but they clashed on whether there should be a maximum tax rate set.

Boyd said it would be ridiculous "to freeze" a maximum tax rate in the charter.

Committee member John D. LaNoue said, "I think there are occasions when it is proper to have limits on taxing ability."

Committee members earlier this month voted 3-2 that there should be a maximum on the library levy, but last night Michael indicated they will reconsider that vote.

The committee also questioned the charter provision that gives the library board the authority to purchase real estate.

Goodale said he felt that the city council should buy the property.

Goodale said branch libraries will be needed within the next 10 years in some outlying sections of the city. "Bookmobiles are not the solution," he said. "I think Terra Linda should be considered."

Mrs. Murray pointed out that the city library became affiliated with the county library so that Terra Linda residents within the city can borrow books there, but the residents are still not satisfied. They feel the county library, across a major highway, "is inaccessible," she said.

The San Rafael City Charter Revision Committee also:

1. Agreed that the charter should contain a section forbidding job discrimination for political opinion, membership in an employees association, race, color or creed, but postponed a vote until its next session.

2. Decided there is no need for an anti-nepotism article forbidding city employment of a relative of a city councilman or city manager, since it can be covered by ordinance.

3. Suggested that two signatures rather than one, the city treasurer's, be required on city checks.

4. Agreed that the section which requires the city council to fix the price of all job and city advertising be eliminated as obsolete.

5. Agreed that the charter should provide that boards and commissions serve for set terms at the pleasure of the council and can be removed by a majority vote of the council.

6. Agreed there should be a charter provision for an emergency fund for use in disasters, and authorized McGuire to prepare a charter amendment along the lines of that in the San Jose City Charter.

7. Agreed that the section requiring the city council to audit all demands against the city be deleted, and the provisions of general law be applied. Under this system, the council checks the list of bills, rather than auditing each individually.

8. Agreed that all references to superintendent of streets be deleted from the charter since this job is handled by the superintendent of public works.

9. Adjourned until 8 p.m. Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. at city hall.

WHO'S AFRAID?

Mill Valleyan Loses His Pet Wolf

John Cipollina of Mill Valley has lost his wolf.

"He's really just a lap wolf," said his mother yesterday when she reported the loss.

John, 23, got the wolf pup when it was about four weeks old and raised it on a bottle. It's now five months old. He left the wolf with a Point Reyes Station friend last week while he looked for an apartment in San Francisco.

"John was going to pass him off as a dog," Mrs. Cipollina said, "but he really doesn't look too much like a dog."

Perhaps it's the fangs.

Johns' friend, artist Jim Jensen, discovered the wolf was missing on Monday morning. The 50-pound wolf has a pearl gray coat, with a reddish cast on the long fur on his back, Mrs. Cipollina said.

The wolf's name is Cycon, "after a famous Alaskan wolf," she explained.

Cycon used to travel on engagements with John and his folk-rock band, The Quicksilver Messenger Service. "He used to wait in the dressing room," Mrs. Cipollina said.

"He likes to play with horses and cattle," she said. "He does not know what he is."

John is offering a reward for his return, she said, and anyone with information should call her at her home, 312 Shady Lane, Mill Valley.

Attorney Forgiven On Contempt Charge

A contempt of court proceedin was dismissed against Oakland attorney Wilmont Sweeney yesterday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court.

Sweeney, ordered to show cause why he failed to appear Sept. 15 with Harold Donnie Burton, 27, Richmond, explained that he had not been notified by Burton. Burton and Hezekiah Murphy, also of Richmond, are charged with burglary.

Sea Breezes End Marin Heat Wave

Marin County played it cool today with its own brand of air conditioning. Banks of gray fog rolled in from the sea to bring an end to the three-day heat wave which had sent temperatures rocketing into the upper 90s.

Today, it was a different picture, with thermometers registering around 20 degrees below the past few days.

It is expected to stay that way. The U.S. Weather Bureau said fog banks, extending inland night and morning, will put an end to the unseasonable hot weather.

Simultaneously with the beat-the-heat relief, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom announced lifting of the ban on permits for open fires and incinerator burning imposed Tuesday.

Permits will again be issued for incinerator burning in the county area. Bloom suggested residents of cities check on restrictions with their local fire departments

Woodacre had a high reading of 98 yesterday before the sea breezes sent temperatures a-tumbling down. Highs of 96 degrees were recorded in San Rafael and Novato.

At noon today, San Rafael recorded 74 degrees while 72 was reported from San Anselmo, where a high of 97 was reached yesterday.

Smog let Marin off lightly during the three-day wave. Eyes in many parts of the Bay Area were smarting pretty badly but in San Rafael the reading never went above .12, well below the eye-irritation level. In San Francisco, it was .21 yesterday.

The Weather Bureau reported it will continue warm over the northern part of the state and the heat will continue in central and southern California.

Hottest reporting point yesterday was Red Bluff with 109 degrees. Sacramento had 103, Stockton, 100, and Fairfield 99.

Zimmerman's Ex-Employee Still Sought

Sheriff's inspectors today increased their efforts to locate James Luff, 48, for questioning in the Aug. 29-30 murders of Mr. and Mrs. Everett F. Zimmerman, after reporting they have reason to believe he is in Northern California.

They declined to give the reason.

Luff, a former milker for the couple, has been object of a three-county search by police officers. He is the only one of six former Zimmerman employees not yet quizzed in the deaths at the Zimmerman home on San Antonio Road.

An 18-year-old Marine, Robert Dean Sidbeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sidbeck of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo, has been charged with the murders.

Extradition proceedings have been undertaken with the Secretary of the Navy to return him for trial in Marin County from Millington Naval Air Station in Memphis, Tenn.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said yesterday no progress report has been received on the application.

Fairfax Planners Forward 24-Page Regulation List

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night unanimously approved a 24-page list of regulations for subdivisions, including procedures for undergrounding all utility lines.

The commission's decision will go to the city council for final action.

Included in the lengthy regulation, which would replace Chapter 21 of the Fairfax Town Code, are minimum lot sizes and minimum widths for streets and highways.

The new regulation states that lots, except those on corners, must be not less than 60 feet width by 80 feet deep and at least 7,500 square feet in area. Corner lots are not to be less than 70 feet wide.

They provide that the subdivider be responsible for utility lines being placed underground.

Violin Recital By Kolitsch For Chamber

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Yes, it is true. San Rafael Chamber of Commerce is going baroque.

A violin recital to aid the chamber out of its present financial difficulties is planned for early December by San Rafael concert violinist Vlado Kolitsch.

Naturally, the music will be chamber music. But while the program is not yet set, it is unlikely to include anything resembling Verdi's "Requiem or Chopin's funeral march.

'MY CONTRIBUTION'

Said Kolitsch, a chamber member for the past two years: "This is my small contribution to help the chamber wipe out its deficit.

"This city cannot afford to be without a chamber. It's good for life. . . . It's good for business."

He was among the 340 members told Wednesday that unless they help out with contributions, the chamber—facing a deficit of $5,000 caused by the Autumn Festival—would have to be reduced to a one-man operation.

Officials blamed the chamber's policy of deficit spending for its predicament. Only a few members had come forward to pay off their "fair share" of the $8,500 incurred by the festival.

Kolitsch's violin concert offer has no strings attached. All the money raised by the $5-a-ticket recital in San Rafael High School will go to the chamber, he said.

TO PROD OTHERS

"This may be one way to awaken the consciences of other members to dig deep in their pockets," said the violinist. "In any case, if the recital is a financial success we will have Christmas decorations in the streets of San Rafael. I don't want my children to miss the decorations."

In a letter to members this week, chamber president Sig K. Hertzog said all promotions, including Christmas decorations, would be suspended until the organization was back in the black.

Meanwhile, John J. Alvarado, chamber manager, said yesterday he had received a large number of letters of support and offers from local businessmen.

It was still "to early," he added, to assess how much money would come in as a result of this week's appeal.

Transport Meeting Set For Progress Report

The Bay Area Transportation Study Commission, conducting an $850,000 study into Marin-San Francisco transportation problems will hear a progress report Thursday on possible solutions to that problem.

The report will be given at 9:45 a.m. in room 17437 of the San Francisco Federal Building at 450 Golden Gate Avenue by E. R. Foley, chief engineer of the Division of Bay Toll Crossings.

Foley said he will present details of alternate crossings being considered by the commission's engineers during the study scheduled for completion by May, 1967.

As part of that study, surveyors for the commission have spent the last month painting 50 huge white crosses at key points along the Marin County bay side between San Rafael and the Golden Gate.

Other crosses have been painted on Angel Island and at the Presidio in San Francisco. The crosses indicate control points needed to obtain accurate aerial photos of the study area, according to Normand Moore, chief of the commission's survey crews.

The crosses are located on precise points of a state-wide grid system. They show up in aerial photographs and the points they mark are used to control development of the photos so each is produced to exactly the same scale—1,500 feet to the inch.

Strips making up the crosses are 19 feet long and 18 inches wide. They had to be painted in open areas where they would show up in aerial photos, Moore said, and most were painted at the crest of knolls.

Program Of Achievement Sunday Winds Up 4-H Week

National 4-H Club Week will wind up with a 4-H achievement program Sunday at 3 p.m. at Terra Linda High School amphitheater, Marin County Advisor Don Brittsan announced today.

Four-H Club members from throughout Marin will be honored for achievement in the club program. Highlight will be announcement of winners in the national 4-H awards program and recipient of the McClelland Memorial Scholarship.

Members will also receive achievement pins and star ranks during the program. Marsha Baccaglio and Eric Angress, 1966 4-H All-Stars will serve as masters of ceremonies.

More than 600 members and parents are expected to attend, Brittsan said.

Guilty Plea In Battery

Daniel John Farshman, 29, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court today to a charge of battery on a San Rafael policeman.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas gave him five days in county jail.

Farshman, of Pacifica, originally was accused of felony assault on the officer, J. D. Loane, during a fracas on a Greyhound bus in the San Rafael bus depot at Third Street and Tamalpais Avenue last Monday.

Novato Civic Center Site On Agenda

The Civic Center Committee of the Novato City Council will meet at 8:30 a.m. tomorrow in the office of City Mgr. J. Julien Baget.

The committee has been studying three proposed sites for a future civic center for Novato.

Surplus Funds To Be Invested

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District directors last night asked the county to invest $50,000 of the district's construction fund through the regular county investment program.

The directors, headed by President William E. Brook, also accepted the transfer of sewer facilities from Gallinas Village, Community Services District.

The directors decided to apply for annexation of Santa Margarita Valley Park on Dela Guerra Road, as requested by the city of San Rafael. The city will put in the park and wants the sanitary district to annex the area.

Envelope, Money Reported Missing

Rich Electric Co. yesterday reported an envelope containing $3000 missing from a desk drawer in its office at 109 Professional Center Parkway, San Rafael.

Partners Richard Brooks and Richard B. Pingleton said the money had been on hand for a projected hunting trip and might have been taken any time during the week.

enhances this "hideaway" home. The kitchen will make you think of sidewalk cafes in Paris — One bath is done in Persian wallpaper — the other in Victorian red. All 3 bedrooms are large and have delightful views (one is richly paneled to make a perfect den or boy's room) — a smart Swedish fireplace sits against a white brick wall in the big living room. The grounds are "woodsy" and planted for beauty and easy care. It's a brand new listing — priced at just $34,950 — and you can see it today by calling

✲ ✱ ● ● SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

Saturn Only Planet Clearly Visible

By JAMES STOKLEY
(Copyright 1966 by Science Service, Inc.)

Shining in the south with a brilliance equal to a first magnitude star, Saturn is the only planet clearly visible on October evenings. Several others, however, appear later, beginning about midnight.

The accompanying maps show the appearance of the skies about 11 p.m., your own kind of daylight saving time, at the beginning of October. They look about the same an hour earlier at the middle of the month and two hours earlier at the end.

SATURN IS high in the south, in the constellation of Pisces, the fishes. Directly above is the Great Square, not a constellation, but part of Pegasus, the winged horse. Such distinctive star groups that are not constellations are called "asterisms." Low in the north is another—the best known of all. This is the Big Dipper, in Ursa Major, the great bear.

Actually Alpheratz, the star in the upper left corner of the Square, is not in Pegasus at all. It is part of Andromeda, the chained princess, whose stars are divided between the southern and northern sky maps.

TO THE SOUTHEAST of Aquila is Aquarius, the water carrier. This constellation is in the zodiac. Other zodiac constellations now visible are Taurus, the bull; Aries, the ram; Pisces, the fishes; Capricornus, the horned goat, and Sagittarius, the archer. They are part of the belt of 12 constellations through which the sun, moon and planets seem to move.

Below Aquarius is the southern fish, Piscis Austrinus, with the first magnitude star Fomalhaut. Actually, Fomalhaut is slightly brighter than Deneb, but looks much fainter because it so low on the horizon and the atmosphere absorbs so much of its light. It now stands about as high as it can get for our latitude. From 30 degrees south (the latitude of Porto Alegre, Brazil, or Durban, South Africa) it passes through the zenith, and shines more brilliantly.

Low in the northeast is Auriga, the charioteer, with the bright star Capella. To the right is Taurus, with Aldebaran.

The appearance of these two stars is a herald of winter. They are part of a group of bright stars that decorate the southern sky on evenings of January and February.

IF YOU WANT a preview of winter skies, look overhead at about 4:00 a.m. in mid-October. Each month the stars present the same appearance as they did the previous month two hours later. The October skies of 5:00 a.m. (in daylight time, which is 4:00 a.m. by standard time) appear the same as November at 2:00 a.m., December at midnight, January at 10:00 p.m. and February at 8:00 p.m. The planets move against the background of distant stars, and so their positions constantly change.

Saturn, now so prominent, is probably most famous for its remarkable system of rings, which are visible through a telescope of at least moderate size. But if you look at Saturn now, you will hardly see the ring. On Oct. 29 they will be invisible with small telescopes and will be seen only as thin bright lines through big instruments.

The ball of Saturn is about 75,000 miles in diameter. From its equator to the innermost of the rings is a gap of nearly 9,000 miles—enough space for the earth to pass through with a little to spare. The rings extend for about 38,000 miles farther, making their outside diameter about 170,000 miles.

BUT DESPITE THIS huge diameter, the ring system is exceedingly thin—10 miles or less. Thus, when our view is below or above their plane, the rings are quite easily visible—with a large enough telescope. But when they are exactly on edge as viewed from earth—a condition lasting but a few hours—they seem to disappear.

Saturn's year, the time it takes to revolve once around the sun, is equal to 29.5 earthly years. During half of this period, seen from the sun at the center of the solar system, the upper side of the rings is visible, with the under side on view in the other half of Saturn's year. Between these periods comes the time when the rings are seen exactly on edge.

The earth is about 93 million miles from the sun—about a tenth as far as Saturn. During the year in which the earth passes through the plane of the ring system, there are usually three occasions when the rings are seen edgewise. This happened last in 1950, and is occurring again in 1966.

This year, the first time the rings were seen on edge was on April 2, when Saturn rose just before sunrise. This occurs again on Oct. 29, and for the last time on Dec. 17.

BUT WHAT IS the nature of the rings? Astronomers showed long ago that they could not be solid. If they were, they would suffer strains that would quickly demolish them.

They consist of a vast swarm of tiny particles. Some may be as large as golf balls, others no bigger than sand grains or dust particles. Perhaps they are made of ices—or, if solid, are covered with ice. They may have resulted from the breakup of a former large satellite which ventured too close to Saturn. According to an alternative theory, they are due to raw material for a satellite which never condensed to form one.

In addition to the rings, Saturn has nine full-sized satellites. One of these is Titan, the most massive in the solar system, with about twice the mass of our moon. Its diameter is 2,980 miles (compared with 2,160 miles for ours). At a distance of 795,000 miles from Saturn it goes around once in a little less than 16 days.

Nearer to Saturn are five others, named Mimas (innermost), Enceladus, Tethys, Dione and Rhea. Out beyond Titan revolve the rest: Hyperion, Iapetus and Phoebe. The latter was discovered from Peru in 1898 by W. H. Pickering of Harvard Observatory. In 1904 he announced discovery of another, still more distant, which he named Themis. Unfortunately no one else has ever located it, and many astronomers consider that it does not exist.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Two New Drug Classes Reverse Potassium Depletion Syndrome

The potassium depletion syndrome was rare 25 years ago but today it is said to exist in 20 per cent of all hospitalized persons. Not all of these people have symptoms and the condition would not be recognized unless blood tests were done. The trouble stems from faulty diets and the wide-spread usage of two relatively new classes of drugs — thiazide diuretics and the corticosteroids.

VAN DELLEN

THE THIAZIDE diuretics are useful in the treatment of hypertension and dropsy. The corticosteroids, the second group, are used in a variety of medical conditions including arthritis and allergic disorders. We know that with every excellent result obtained with these products, there may be an accompanying adverse reaction.

The diuretics are effective because they eliminate sodium from the body via the kidneys. But it is difficult to remove salt without losing potassium. In these circumstances the loss of potassium has nothing to do with the effectiveness of the drug and is purely coincidental. The situation is somewhat the same in regard to the corticosteroids.

WE ALSO know that the body has no way to conserve potassium when the intake is reduced or large amounts are lost through the kidneys or gastrointestinal tract. The body's supply of the mineral continues to dwindle even though the intake is zero.

Potassium plays an important role in muscle contraction and tone. A depletion leads to muscular weakness, reduced or absent reflexes, mental confusion, and soft, flabby muscles. Paralysis has been traced to this deficiency as well as alterations in the action of the heart and gastrointestinal system.

TREATMENT includes the use of foods high in potassium content. Raw apples, bananas, oranges, grapefruit, tomatoes, cabbage, fresh asparagus, green snap beans, carrots and celery are rich in the mineral. In addition, there are a number of potassium products on the market.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

OVERCOMING LAXATIVES

E. A. writes: How can constipation due to the laxative habit be overcome?

REPLY

The regular bowel habit must be reestablished by setting aside a certain period each day for this purpose. To get things started during the first week or so, it may be necessary to use a suppository or a small enema. Meanwhile, eat fruit to add roughage to the diet and drink ample quantities of fluids.

GALL BLADDER BOUT

T. Z. writes: How is an attack of gall bladder treated?

REPLY

The infection is controlled with an antibiotic; a pain killing drug is used to relieve distress; and fat is excluded from the diet to give the organ a rest. Some surgeons advise immediate operation whereas others prefer to wait until inflammation subsides.

CLUMSY FINGERS

Mrs. H. writes: When I attempt to pick up anything my fingers stiffen and become awkward. Sometimes I drop a cup or knife, which is very annoying. What could be responsible for this condition?

REPLY

A neurological disorder, such as multiple sclerosis or apoplexy, may be to blame.

DIFFERENT SUBSTANCES

Y. M. writes: Are vitamins the same as hormones?

REPLY

No. Vitamins are essential food constituents, whereas hormones are secretions produced by the endocrine glands.

LUNG FUNGUS

K. M. writes: Can anything be done for histoplasmosis?

REPLY

Yes, Amphotericin - B. Those with lung involvement almost always get well spontaneously. The course of the disease is more stormy when the yeast-like causative organism invades other tissues such as the liver and spleen.

WALKING IS BETTER

M. V. writes: Is it beneficial for a middle-aged person who never has done anything more strenuous than walking to start exercising with bar bells, hand grips, and chest exercises?

REPLY

ACUTE TUBERCULOSIS

C. J. writes: Is miliary tuberculosis curable?

REPLY

In the past the outlook was generally poor; but it has improved considerably since the advent of streptomycin, PAS, and the izoniazids. In this type of tuberculosis, there are many small lesions scattered throughout the lungs.

Today's Health Hint — Exercise improves lung efficiency.

Line Of Lights Warns Drivers Of Wrongway

Special to the I-J

SACRAMENTO—Brilliant red lines of light will soon be warning drivers who are headed the wrong way on some California freeways.

This latest device of the California Division of Highways will be found on any freeway constructed in the future and on existing ones where raised reflective markers are being installed as replacements for white painted lane striping.

State traffic engineers hope the red line will convey the right message to wrong way drivers and persuade them to stop their vehicles before they become involved in a head-on crash.

About one out of ten persons killed on freeways die in this type of accident—the very sort freeways are designed to prevent. The new red line is the latest in a series of devices aimed at stopping such mishaps.

The markers are placed on the road surface in sets. Several round, dull white button-types are aligned and then agumented with a highly reflective rectangular one. The rectangular marker is split down the center and when approached at night from the right direction reflects a reassuring white line. From the wrong direction, it looms up red and forbidding.

No hint of red is visible to those drivers proceeding in the proper direction.

Originally, only white reflectors were installed on freeways. They replaced paint because of their superior ability to demarcate traffic lanes at night when the pavement is wet from rain, sleet or fog.

Last autumn the Division of Highways placed red warning signs that read "Wrong Way" on every freeway off-ramp in the state highway system. Results indicate that these signs are stopping some motorists from becoming wrong way drivers. The new red line technique is designed to turn back those who ignored the warning signs and other features that indicate the proper direction of traffic flow.

Survey Shows Smoker More Disagreeable

BOSTON (SS) — Smokers are apparently more disagreeable people than nonsmokers, if the opinions of their friends are to be trusted.

In a new study on smoking and personality, Dr. Gene M. Smith of Harvard Medical School in Boston, assessed 1,462 college and nursing students, mostly females. He used both self-ratings and ratings by classmates, on the assumption that the latter might describe personality characteristics untapped in the self-reports. He was right.

Three elements of personality emerged to differentiate the smokers from the nonsmokers, which did not show up through the self-rating method used in most previous smoking studies.

According to peers, the smokers were more "disagreeable (more demanding, attention-seeking, assertive, prone to jealousy; less good-natured, adaptable, tender, self-effacing and trusting)," said Dr. Smith.

They had lower scores on "strength of character (less conscientious, self-reliant, responsible and perservering)."

They were also judged less mannerly and refined.

Both methods produced a significant difference between smokers and nonsmokers in orderliness and extroversion, with the smokers less orderly in personal habits and more extroverted.

Dr. Smith noted that on the basis of the peer ratings alone, an observer could pick out a heavy smoker (a pack or more a day) three-fourths of the time. His accuracy in tagging more moderate smokers was 68 per cent.

The psychologist admitted that the two groups overlap each other considerably, with some smokers being more introverted agreeable, responsible and mannerly than the average nonsmoker. But on the average, Dr. Smith found stronger differences than have earlier studies.

His results are in line with the theory that smokers and nonsmokers may differ genetically, possibly meaning that the link between smoking and diseases such as cancer is due to some predisposition rather than to cause and effect. This is perhaps unlikely, said Dr. Smith but the possibility merits study.

Another explanation is that the personality traits of smokers and nonsmokers may be governed by environment.

The star-spangled street where you live

You can't always see the stars and stripes on the homes and apartments in your neighborhood, but they're there just the same.

A big percentage of American families own U.S. Savings Bonds. Many of these star-spangled families have been buying Bonds since they were first issued 25 years ago.

Altogether, Uncle Sam has sold $150 billion in E and H Bonds. About $100 billion of these have been cashed in for college, retirement, new furniture, emergencies, and down payments for those homes.

Americans still own a nest egg of nearly $50 billion in Bonds for tomorrow's needs. And as the nest egg grows, Uncle Sam uses the dollars to help support our fighting men in Vietnam—and help keep our economy strong.

You can help make Uncle Sam's future, and your own, more secure by joining this star-spangled savings plan. Why not start now? Sign up for Payroll Savings where you work, or buy Bonds regularly at your bank.

NOW—
Savings Bonds Pay 4.15%!

Interest on new E and H Bonds you purchase has been raised to 4.15% when held to maturity. E Bonds mature faster—now in just 7 years. Your old Bonds will earn more, too. Savings Bonds are better to buy, and hold, than ever.

Article Singles Tiburon Project

Tiburon's two-acre historic and wildlife conservation project is one of three California programs included in the new issue of the nationally distributed publication, Preserving Historic America.

The article tells of the preservation by the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society of Old St. Hilary's Church, built in 1888 and considered an outstanding example of "Carpenter's Gothic" architecture, and of the surrounding two-acre knoll containing rare species of flora. It is illustrated with photographs by Anna Jean Cole of Tiburon.

The periodical is issued by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Pot-Luck Dinner To Begin Meetings

Monthly meetings of the Bolinas Beach Improvement Club will resume Saturday with a pot-luck dinner at 7 p.m. at Bolinas Mesa Clubhouse. All residents of the community are invited to attend the dinner, said vice president Fred E. Davis.

Burns Fights Deadline For Hospital Ground

In a last-ditch attempt to keep the San Rafael General Hospital Foundation from folding up, former hospital administrator Arthur G. Burns has been retained for 90 days to seek a site for a proposed new hospital. The old San Rafael General Hospital closed May 27.

The foundation already has a seven-acre site, donated by developer Harry Heifetz, on Channing Way in San Rafael. But this site, on a hill, has no access, and surrounding acreage is involved in litigation expected to last 18 months.

Burns said he is working against time to locate suitable land, around 28 acres, in the northern area of the county for a 300-bed hospital planned by the non-profit foundation.

Presuming such a site were found, where would funds to purchase it come from? Burns said the foundation does not have assurance of the funds, "but philanthropy is not dead. Someone might donate the land. It's a tax deduction."

The administrator has until Jan. 1 to come up with a suitable site. If he doesn't find it by then, Burns said, he thinks the foundation, and its hospital plans, "will fold up."

Marin Health Facilities Planning Committee's statement of planning policy recommended the type of hospital project for Northern Marin that the foundation is seeking to build, said Burns. The foundation board envisages a 300-bed, single-accommodation hospital, he explained, catering to the area of Marin County north of Puerto Suello Hill to the county line.

Board To Study Supervisor's Bid

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will have a public hearing Monday at 8 p.m. at City Hall on the commission-initiated rezoning from commercial to residential of property at 25 Ancha Vista Avenue.

Marin Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen owns the property.

The commission will also consider Dennis Beall's application for roofing a car deck at 68 Oakland Avenue.

McConnell Seeks Questions From Parents For Workshop

Supt. G. R. McConnell of Mill Valley School District today appealed to parents to submit questions to him for discussion at tomorrow's public workshop.

The workshop, on a proposal to limit three Mill Valley primary schools to the first three grades, will start at 9 a.m. in Old Mill School auditorium. The proposal by the district's professional council would limit Homestead, Marin Terrace and Old Mill schools to the first three grades. Fourth and fifth grades would be bused to Tamalpais Valley and Parks schools.

District trustees already have agreed to the council's proposal for a "middle school" to house sixth, seventh and eighth grade pupils.

Questions for the workshop, McConnell said, should be submitted to the district office at 26 Miller Avenue.

Public discussion at the workshop will be limited to the morning session. After lunch, discussion will be limited to trustees and district staff.

McConnell already has compiled a list of 17 questions, including the following: "Shall we 'phase out' some schools?" "When should a bond issue be proposed?" "What is the minimum acreage required for a 'middle school' of 1,500?"

The island of Martinique has three times as many Frenchmen per square mile as France itself.

Tam-Drake Aerial Circus Expected

You can expect some sort of flying circus tomorrow when Drake and Tamalpais match passing attacks in their Marin Athletic League football opener at College of Marin Stadium, 1:30 p.m.

The Indians and the Pirates will be throwing fits into each other's pass defenders but it will probably be the strength of those same defenders that will make the difference.

"We'll be working on pass defense quite a bit," Drake coach Bob Franceschini said. "I've been a little worried about that. It didn't look so good against Petaluma in that first game."

Petaluma, affer trailing 25-0, came back for two touchdown passes against the Pirate and moved the ball well through the air.

"It's twice as good as last year," Hector said. "It's really improved."

Mackin has already passed for six touchdown passes while Stone has hit the target on three occasions. But Mackin, so far at least, has been flashier and more consistent.

"He's a real fine kid," Franceschini acknowledged. "We're going to have to stop him."

In the catching category, each team has some good ones. The Pirates have a pair of standouts in Bob Alvarado, an all-league honorable mention end last year, and Karl Stein, who has latched onto a pair of touchdown passes. The Indians will counter chiefly with Mike Biber, the league's scoring leader to date with four touchdowns, all on pass receptions from Mackin.

Both teams have a more than respectable running attack to go

Marin Tars Battle Solano 'II' Tonight

Quarterback Allen Simontacchi, who injured his throwing hand against Menlo last week, will probably see very little action against Solano College, 8 o'clock at College of Marin tonight.

Backup quarterback Bob Taylor is already out with a broken hand so that leaves the signal-calling in the hands of third-string quarterback Mike Alberigi, who did a competent job taking over for Simontacchi last week.

Put in Fred Rodoni, 190-pounder at one halfback and former Terra Linda ace John Clifford at the other halfback and you have the makings of a pretty solid backfield.

"Practically their whole backfield is from Vallejo High School," Tar coach Dick Read said. "They're big and fast, especially their halfback.

"They're about as big as we are," Read said. "But they'll be tough."

Read will go with Bill Clark (6-1, 190) and Honor Jackon (6-1, 180) at ends; Dennis Jordan (63, 235) and Bob Unruh (6-3, 215) at tackles; Chuck Hahn (6-0, 220) and Bob Washinton (6-0, 230) at guards, and Loren Swaney (6-1, 180) or Dave Ferranti (5-10, 180) at center.

Champagne On Ice, Dodgers Ready To Roar

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

Put Down That Pigskin, Mother, You're Too Old To Skirt End

THE HERO: I guess you've noticed in the sports pages that football season is in full swing. Meaning, of course, that the old gridiron cliches are in bloom, enlightening many of us, but mystifying others, so much so, in fact, that the following conversation could be taking place this very minute in some Marin household:

"Yes, Mater, queen of them all, heart of my heart. Pray tell, what troubles thy beautiful head this fine day?"

"KNOCK OFF the flattery, Buster, or I'll give you a backhand. Now, I thought you told me you were going out to play football the other night."

"True, true, Madame Sunshine and Roses. Precisely what I did and . . . ahem . . . quite well, I might add in all modesty."

"Hark, Mother Divine, what does the old Indigestion say about me today?"

"HMPF!" I almost died when I read your name. Look right here, it says you pilfered an airborne oblate spheroid, swivel-hipped your way through a broken field of fallen gladiators and DANCED into paydirt. As if that wasn't bad enough, Junior, it says you then SPLIT the uprights with your talented starboard metatarsus!"

"Aw shucks, Ma, it was nothin' . . ."

"INDEED! Oh, dear, what will the neighbors say? I hope no one saw you doing all that.

"And I almost fainted when the story continued, describing your Herculean antics on the velvety emerald carpet of your outmanned hosts. I hope you wiped off your feet, Junior.

"THE STORY then said you swept the partisan filberts off their rotund posteriors when you projected the inflated missile to your SPLIT end. And later you faked the charging red dog out of his harness and skirted around the port-side flank. Oh gracious—if I had only had an inkling. Where did I fail?"

"Aw, knock off the Sarah Bernhardt routine, Ma. It's only a game. All the kids . . ."

"ALL THE kids do NOT do what you do. I'm going to hide this paper from your poor father. Why, if he knew that you are a tight end and the most offensive gridder in the circuit, not only adept at snaring pigskins, but also one of the hottest jitterbugging cornerbacks to come along prepdom's pigskin pike since the cyclonic days of Crazy Legs Garfinkle I think he'd just die. On top of that, it says here that you also are the greatest diagnostician of the belly series this side of the Folies Bergere! And I quote that evil-minded journalist who composed this lurid trash.

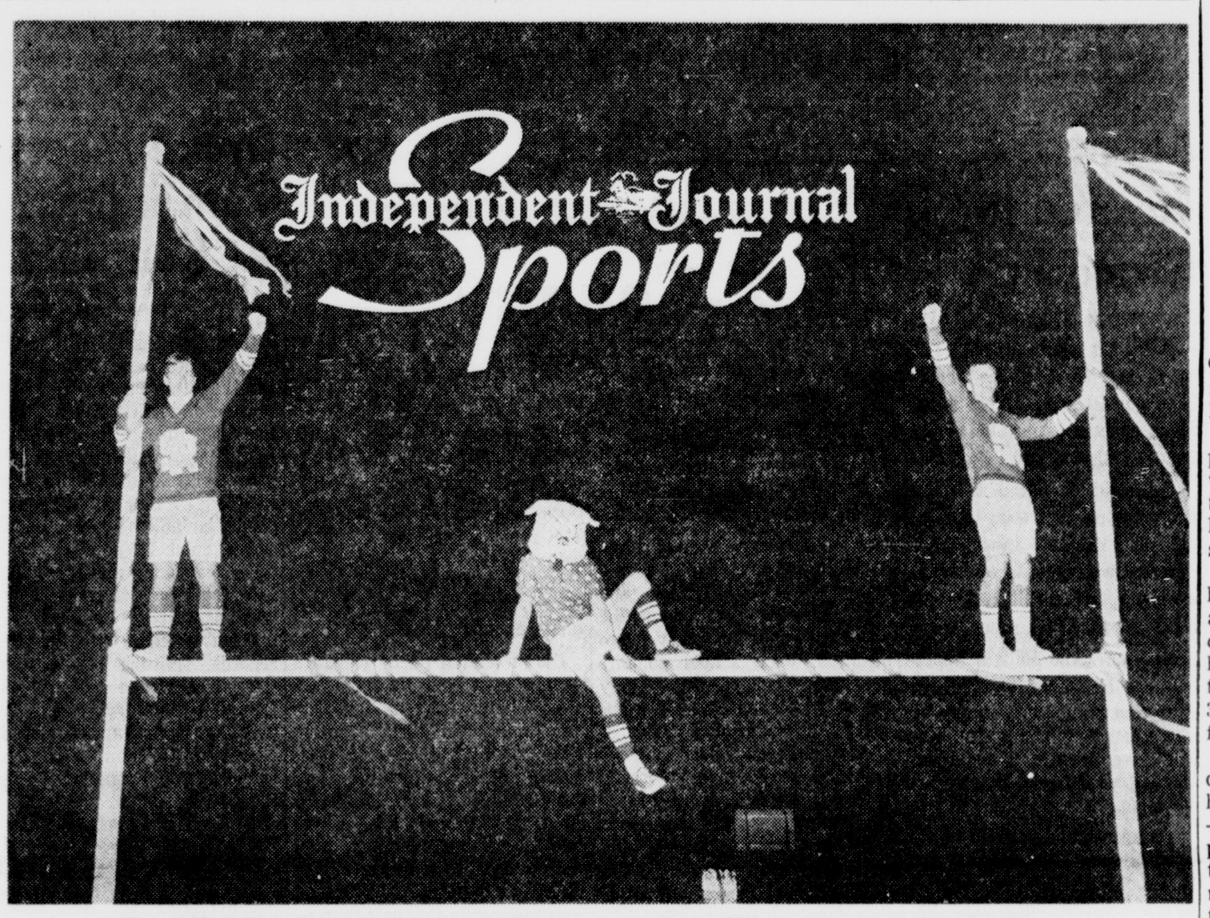
"FURTHER, JUNIOR, I disapprove of your delayed bucks, bootlegs, backfield in motion, cross bucks, quick openers, flankers, naked reverses and . . ."

"But, gee whiz, Mom, I may help my alma mater garner the coveted gonfalon . . ."

"Don't you DARE bring a gonfalon in this house. Now, be a good boy and do me a favor, will you?"

"Sure, Mom. What?"

"ANKLE ON down to the corner protein palace and snare me a slab of pigskin, a jug of moo juice, a dozen cackleberries, a carton of coffin nails and for the sake of your ol' alma mommy, Junior, watch out for that Irish Setter."



THREE CHEERS FOR MIGHTY BULLDOGS

San Rafael High School yell leaders John Anderson (left) and Don Hawken and mascot Don Markey (behind the mask) perch themselves on a goal post to lead the Bulldogs in a big yell. San Rafael takes on Redwood High tonight at 8 o'clock on the Bulldogs' field in the opening game of the 1966 Marin Athletic League football season. Story on page 42. (Independent-Journal photo)

49ers Due For Explosion

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Millionaire quarterback John Brodie and the San Francisco 49ers shoot for their first win of the 1966 NFL season tonight against the Los Angeles Rams, proud possessors of a 2-1 record.

A crowd of 45,000 is predicted for the 8:05 kickoff at Memorial Coliseum. The game will be televised to Northern California on KTVU, Channel 2.

Last year when the San Franciscans were the highest scoring team in the league, they dumped the Rams twice, 45-21, and 30-27. With a 20-20 tie with Minnesota and a 36-14 loss to Baltimore behind them, Brodie and Co. may be ready to burst into the win column.

Ram coach George Allen says:

"The 49ers are going to bust out of this thing soon and score 50 points on some club. I just hope they wait one more week. I thought they were tremendous last year and they have brilliant offensive personnel."

The Rams have beaten Atlanta, 19-14, and the Chicago Bears, 31-17, and they didn't look too bad losing to Green Bay, 2-413.

In a preseason game, they beat the 49ers, 29-9.

Roman Gabriel has completed 58 per cent of his passes in the three regular season games —49 of 84 for 633 yards and two TDs.

Brodie, who held out for almost a million dollars on a long-term contract, is no slouch again. He's completed 60 per cent—38 of 63 for 375 yards and three TDs in only two games.

The 49er running game has been slow starting. Fullback Ken Willard, for example, has netted only 59 yards on 25 carries.

Ram fullback Dick Bass has averaged 70 yards per game and he's shooting for a 1,000-yard season—a mark he reached in 1962. Bass has 81 yards to gain in order to set an all-time club career rushing record now held 3,493 yards.

Unknown Leads Canadian Golf Open

With the fog and the mist dampening the seaside 6,907-yard course, Royer fired a startling three-under-par 68 to take the first round lead in the $100,000 Canadian Open Golf tournament.

A 30-year-old crewcut from Columbus, Ga., Royer gave up the pro tour eight years ago because he couldn't even make enough to pay caddy fees.

In a brief comeback this year, Royer has played in just six tournaments and has earned only $3,500. His best finish was 13th in the Cleveland Open, where he shot 278.

But Royer took only 25 putts to go around the course yesterday as he carded five birdies and two bogeys to lead the field of 143 that included 10 amateurs.

One stroke back was Rex Baxter Jr. of Houston, Tex. at 69 while five players, Dick Crawford, Randy Glover, Tom Aaron, Homero Blancas and Don Massengale, shared third place with 70s.

Seven players, including Lionel Hebert and top Canadian hope George Knudson, finished at even par 71. But one of them, Tom Weiskopf, withdrew because of ill health. He has been suffering with a stomch ailment and has lost 20 pounds in three weeks.

Jack Nicklaus was back in the pack with a 73 but he was still three strokes ahead of Billy Casper, the tour's leading money winner with $111,000. Casper's 76 was one more than former Canadin Open champion Doug Sanders and current jpga champion Al Geiberger.

Redwood Captures Volleyball Tilts

Redwood High School girls swept to 15-3, 15-2 victories over Terra Linda High in girls' volleyball action yesterday at Terra Linda. Leslie Lehman was leading scorer for the Redwood varsity.

Inge Rudolph led Redwood's junior varsity to a 15-3, 15-2 win over the Terra Linda jayvees.

Historic Koufax Win Nears Title

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Koufax, the Dodgers' arthritic southpaw ace, tamed St. Louis 2-1 last night and set another strikeout record as Los Angeles inched a step closer to its second straight National League pennant.

The Dodgers lead second-place Pittsburgh by two games, with three to play, and can nail the flag tonight if they win at Philadelphia while the Pirates stumble against San Francisco.

Koufax turned what could be his last regular-season appearance into an historic triumph, checking the Cardinals on four hits and fanning 13 to become the first pitcher ever to hit the 300-strikeout mark in three different seasons.

The 26-game winner then dipped his pitching arm in ice — his regular post-game routine —and said he'll be available to pitch with two days rest against the Phillies Sunday if the pennant hasn't been wrapped up by then.

"I'm ready to go when Walt says so," he said, nodding toward Manager Walter Alston across the clubhouse.

BACK IN FORM

"We're back in form — a one-run lead and trouble in the ninth," said the Dodger pilot, who had challenged baseball orthodoxy in the last inning — and won.

Koufax struck out the first two men he faced in the ninth before Curt Flood, who had put the Cards on the scoreboard with a seventh-inning homer, lashed a double to center. Alston then conferred with Koufax and it was decided to walk Orlando Cepeda intentionally, putting the potential winning run on base.

The Dodgers open their final three-game set at Philadelphia tonight, with Claude Osteen, 17-13, scheduled to pitch against the Phils' Chris Short, 18-11. The Pirates, who were idle yesterday, will send rookie Woody Fryman, 12-9, against San Francisco ace Juan Marichal, 24-6, in the opener of their three-game wind-up at Pittsburgh.

307 WHIFFS

Koufax, who finished the game with a season total of 307 strikeouts, passed the 300-mark for the third time in the last four years when he fanned the side in the fourth inning. Washington's Walter Johnson and Rube Waddell of the Philadelphia Athletics were the only other pitchers who had struck out 300 or more in two seasons.

The Dodgers broke through against loser Al Jackson in the second inning, taking a 1-0 edge on singles by Tommy Davis, Jim Lefebvre and Wes Parker. They added what proved to be the winning run in the fifth on singles by John Roseboro, Maury Wills and Willie Davis.

Flood closed the gap with his 10th homer leading off the seventh and launched the Cards' closing bid with his two-out double in the ninth. The only other hits off Koufax, 26-9, were singles by Cepeda in the second and Tim McCarver in the fifth.

Harrison's two-run homer in the sixth and Pointer's first major league blast in the seventh made Houston reliever Don Wilson a winner in his big league debut. Wilson yielded five hits and fanned seven Reds during his six-inning stint.

Marichal Pitches Tonight

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — It should be a story of one, two, three and out for the San Francisco Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates, who open the final series of the regular season tonight at the Steel City.

One Giant loss or Dodger victory eliminates San Francisco and two Pittsburgh losses or Dodgers victories makes the Bucs walk the plank.

Since the Giants and Bucs have to play each other three times, it figures they'll probably take each other out of the pennant race even if the Dodgers choke up a bit at Philadelphia.

As long as the Giants have a shot, they'll go with their best. Juan Marichal—battling the likes of Sandy Koufax and Jim Kaat for the Cy Young award —takes his gaudy 24-6 record in against rookie ace Woody Fryman (12-9) of the Bucs tonight.

BOLIN TOMORROW

Bob Bolin will go tomorrow and Gaylord Perry Sunday with Marichal ready to go in relief in that one. If the Giants should somehow stay alive, they still have to make up a rainout at Cincinnati and Manager Herman Franks would be hurting for a pitcher. All three men might see action in that one.

Bart Starr A Perfect Name For Sports Hero

If you were going to write a novel about a quarterback, not even if you sat up all night, could you come up with a better moniker for the hero than Bart Starr.

It's a name right out of Burt L. Standish or Zane Grey. You see the name on a movie credit, and you know right away he's the guy with the star on his chest, or the white horse and the white hat. It it's a gangster movie, he's the buy played by Robert Stack. If it's a costume drama, Bart Starr is going to be a combination of Lancelot and Sir Galahad rescuing maidens from castle dungeons or saving Richard the Lion Hearted from his wicked brother.

IN THE OLD Frank Merriwell days, a Bart Starr would be a trustworthy one, always showing up in the nick of time and saying things like "Unhand that girl, you wretch!" or "Zounds, sir, I think he means to kill us all!" but later works out of his bonds and shouts "Aha! So that's your game, you scoundrel! Well, sirrah, two can play at that game as you shall soon find out!"

"BART STAR" is so perfect a name for an athletic hero that I was sure it was a phony. And I was right. "Bart" Starr's real handle is Byran Bartlett Starr. The "Bartlett" was tacked on after a beloved family doctor, one of those guys who hitched up a team in the middle of a snow storm to sit up all night with a sick kid or an ailing wife.

BUT THE point is, Bart Starr LOOKS and ACTS like a Bart Starr. I mean, here he's 6 feet 2 inches, 200 pounds, blond hair, blue eyes. You just know he's good to his mother, is loyal, trustworthy, modest, and would never, never bet on football games.

He is Tom Swift and his Electric Football, the Rover Boy in Green Bay, a Botticelli in shoulder pads. Naturally, he doesn't drink or smoke, and it should come as no great surprise that he's Phi Beta Kappa — and there aren't many of THOSE who make a living in cleats.

HE LOOKS so choir-boyish, in fact, so much like a boy who could light your cigarette by rubbing two sticks together, that there isn't a linebacker in the league who didn't have to learn the hard way that he couldn't be intimidated. He has had more forearm clouts on the head, more probing fingers in the eye socket, and has come out of pileups with a foot you could take corks out of a bottle with more than almost any other signal-caller in the league. "You can't get him to flinch," defensive tackle Merlin Olsen, the third peak from the right in the Rams' defensive mountain range, told me the other day. "He seems to know what you're going to do a split second before you do."

IT'S GRAY matter that makes Bart Starr, Bart the Star. In a league full of young studs who can throw the ball from one county to another, and 80 yards on the fly with a flick of the wrist, Starr was asked what his range was. "I couldn't throw the ball 80 yards in three tries," he laughed. The point is, when he throws the ball it hits somebody. He completes three out of every five passes he throws for an annual 16 touchdowns and an annual 2,000-yards-plus.

BUT THE best thing he does is put a bit of Elizabethan or Victorian elegance back in the game. Crack quarterbacks are usually named Caprilowski or Ninowski — or Milt Plum, heaven help us, or Norman Snead or John Unitas, or Charley Johnson.

"Bart Starr, All-American, "has a nice onomatopoeic ring to it. It sounds as if it should belong to the young stalwart who snatches the game out of the hands of the ruffians at the last possible minute and leaves them muttering "Curses, foiled again by that damnable Starr."

Redwood, San Rafael Battle Tonight

It should be uite an aerial show tonight when San Rafael and Redwood collide in the opening game of the 1966 Marin Athletic League football campaign.

Although the 8 o'clock game is scheduled for the San Rafael High School field, Redwood is the "home" team. The Giants couldn't get their home (College of Marin) field because it is being used all weekend by other prep teams plus the Marin Tars.

Redwood is favored to win its first game of the season tonight, after losing its two practice scraps. The Giants are much bigger than the Bulldogs who have tied one practice tilt and lost another.

TOP RECEIVER

Because of their smallness of size, the Bulldogs are expected to fill the air with passes, with quarterback Bill Joost doing the tossing and Sam Crowell doing most of the catching. Crowell, a split end, has topped his Marin County cunterparts in receiving for the first two non-league games, catching a total of 11 passes for 136 yards.

Redwood's game plan also calls for considerable passing with quarterback Kevin Wilson doing the throwing.

"That Wilson is an embryonic Fran Tarkenton," said San Rafael coach Bob Muster who watched the 165-pounder perform against El Cerrito a couple of weeks back. "He's a real scrambler," said Muster.

RUNNING ATTACK

"We'll have to generate some kind of a running game," Muster continued, as all coaches know you have to have some kind of running game to keep the defense from fudging on the possible pass.

San Rafael guard Mike Rosso, mainstay of the line, has recovered from minor hurts and is a scheduled starter for tonight.

COACH CONFIDENT

"I still feel the same as I felt originally," Troppmann said, referring to his early prediction that Redwood was going to take the Marin championship. "We've had two rough practice games and now we're ready to go."

Troppmann reported defensive halfback Bob Wayne is out of tonight's game and may be out for the season with a back injury. Halfback Harvey Hand and quarterback-halfback Ken Johnson have recovered from knee injuries and will see limited action tonight. Guard Bill Poole has been out with the flu, but should be ready for the game.

Redwood has an all-senior lineup for the contest.

The freshman teams from the two schools will clash tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock on the Redwood field.

Aussie Is Favored In Grand Prix

The field is paced by Jack Brabham of Australia, who has sewed up the 1966 world championship with four victories and a fourth-place finish in the European Grand Prix races.

A purse of $102,400 will be divided among the entrants for the race of the 200-mile-an-hour Formula I machines over the hilly, tear-shaped Watkins Glen track.

Four drivers will represent the U.S. in the race, including Phil Hill of Santa Monica, the only American to win a world title. He was named yesterday to replace Jerry Grant of Santa Ana in an Eagle.

The others are Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, also driving an Eagle, and Richie Ginther of num of Playa Del Rey, both in Japanese-made Hondas.

Time trials will be run tomormor, with the race, 248 miles in length to start at 2 p.m. Sunday.

MARIN LEAGUE

Four-Way Race In X-Country

By ROB HARVEY

The 1966 Marin County Athletic League varsity cross country chase is supposed to be a tight battle between four schools, and, using yesterday's results as an indication, it will be.

In weather conditions of varying degrees, three of the favorites — Redwood, Novato, and Terra Linda — served notice around the loop that they mean business, each school copping its league opener; while highly rated Tamalpais was victimied by Terra Linda's Trojans, 27-30, at Terra Linda. (A reminder: Cross country meets are figured on an inverted scoring system, thus the team with the lowest point production wins the meet).

Novato, in sweltering heat, swept past visiting San Rafael in all three divisions, the varsity and jayvee teams both winning 15-50 which is the ultimate score in cross country), and the frosh squad taking a close 26-29 decision.

And over at a wind-swept 1.9-mile site in Larkspur, Redwood's Giants crushed the visiting Marin Catholic Wildcats, 15-50.

Terra Linda was led by junior sensation Bob Bunnell and senior Tony Camillera. Bunnell, who last year as a sophomore was the only MCAL runner to reach the North Coast Section trials, was first to cross the finish line on Trojans' newly-established 2.4-mile course, posting a fine 10:23.5, while Camillera was clocked at 10:45. Top runners for Tam's Indians were Kim Carrigg, third in 11:23, and Randy Harness, fourth, 11.24. Trojan Bill Opherman ran fifth, 11:23.

Daron Walton paced Novato's victory over San Rafael's varsity. Walton traversed a 2.2-mile course in 13:15 seconds, followed by teammates Bob Smith, 13:32, Clint Harless, Jack Knutson, Larry Zuffinetti, Steve Wick, and Ray Davis completing the seven-man Hornet sweep. Freshman Elijah David and junior Jerry Thomas both took firsts for their respective frosh and J.V. teams en route to clipping San Rafael's Bullpups.

It was senior Ron Gesecker who paved the way for Redwood's Giants, 11:18 seconds; and not too far behind were Giants Steve Carroll, 12:07, Tom Worth, 12:08, and Nick Komos, 12:27. Greg Ball was the first Marin Catholic runner in, 12:58.

with their passing, with quick-getaway halfback John Brown sparking the Pirates and Mike Fowler and Kirk Sparks being the main threats for Tam.

Drake got encouraging news when it was learned that all-league center Bill Hickerson would be able to play. Hickerson, a quick 235-pounder, bruised his shoulder against Vallejo last week, but will start both ways against the Indians.

The two teams have identical records, splitting two practice games. Drake powered past Petaluma, 25-13, and lost to Vallejo 13-32 while Tam dropped its opener to Riordan, 24-36 and bounced back against College Park 27-0.

Junior Sale Regatta Slated In Strawberry

The annual Strawberry Cove Yacht Club regatta for junior members will be held Oct. 8 beginning at 1 p.m. on the channel at Strawberry.

Ribbons and cups will be awarded to winners in various divisions at an evening cookout attended by all members, seniors and juniors.

Novato Takes On BIG Watsonville

Novato football coach Al Scott was talking about Watsonville, with whom the Hornets will collide at Novato at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

"And Petaluma ate us up alive," Scott added.

That might sound like the Hornets could provide another Saturday meal for somebody. But it ain't necessarily so.

Watsonville, size and all, is vulnerable to a good passing attack. It won something of a moral victory by "holding" mighty Bellarmine to a 34-0 victory last week, with most of the Bells' touchdowns coming through the air and across the middle.

And the Hornets found, among other things last week, that they do have a passer in quarterback Harold Fain, who completed 10 of 17 passes for 129 yards and 1½ touchdowns. The touchdown that wasn't was a controversial incompletion in the first quarter.

"We'll be passing," Scott said. "Bellarmine completed quite a few across the middle against Watsonville. We'll try it."

The Hornets will have to put up with what Scott terms "a huge Watsonville line" led by a 6-4, 235-pound tackle and the fancy running of tailback Manuel Arraiza, who tore off good-chunks of yardage last week. And any yardage against Bellarmine can be considered well-earned.

Bears Take On Pitt At Berkeley Stadium

Honesty thus overshadowed diplomacy on the California football front since Michigan's Clancy had caught eight passes for 93 yards as the Wolverines beat the Bears 17-7.

California faces Pittsburgh and Longo tomorrow.

Pittsburgh was drubbed by UCLA 57-14 in the opener and lost to Duke 14-7 last Saturday. Cal beat Washington State 21-6 in the opener before falling to a Michigan team ranked No. 8 in the nation by the Associated Press poll.

SHARP SHOOTER

After sophomore quarterback Barry Bronk engineered California's only touchdown against Michigan, there was speculation he might move ahead of Berry in the California alignment. Willsey squelched the idea:

"Berry did a fine job for us and under our system the quarterback is more important running than the halfback. He gained 150 yards running and passing and if he can do this every week, I imagine we'll win quite a few games.

"It was gratifying to see Bronk spark the team late in the going. This is what you hope your No. 2 quarterback can do for you. I expect that Bronk will help us quite a bit this year."

Fox-Santana Duel Heads Pacific Net

The 5-foot-8 Fox, ninth-seed at Berkeley, swept past seventh-seeded Owen Davidson 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, yesterday while Santana beat Australian Roy Ruffels 6-4, 6-4.

Fox defeated Wimbledon champion Santana and almost every other international amateur star last week in the Pacific Southwest Tournament in Los Angeles. Fox wants a Davis Cup berth and says that beating Santana again would help him attain that goal.

Second-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia meets Arthur Ashe of Los Angeles, fourth-seed John Newcombe of Australia meets Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico and third-seeded U. S. titlist Fred Stolle takes on Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, in other matches.

To reach quarter-finals, Stolle beat Bob Siska of San Francisco, 6-4, 2-6, 6-1; Ralston won over Australian Bill Bowrey 6-3, 108; Pasarell defeated Australian Tony Roche 10-8, 3-6, 7-5; Newcombe beat Jim McManus of Berkeley 7-5, 8-6; Ashe defeated Whitney Reed of Alameda, 6-3, 6-1 and Emerson handled Bill Demas of Sacramento, 6-3, 6-4.

In women's matches, Judy Tegart of Australia defeated Denise Carter of Los Altos, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco defeated Tina Lyman of Los Altos, 6-4, 6-4.

Injuns Vs. Surprising Tulane At Palo Alto

STANFORD (AP)—Tulane presents a new football team with the same faces when the Green Wave seeks to continue its 1966 surprise tomorrow at the expense of Stanford.

Under new coach Jim Pitman, Tulane already has won two games, the same total as during all of 1965, despite the fact that player personnel remains primarily the same.

Stanford, on the other hand, sends a familiar fellow into a new position. Dave Lewis, the starting quarterback of last season, starts at the running halfback sport as coach John Ralston finally comes up with the backfield he has envisioned for this fall.

Sophomore Gene Washington took over at quarterback, Lewis because of a bruised shoulder, has seen service at flanker instead of halfback, the position where he'd been slotted since last spring.

Stanford beat San Jose 25-21 with a comeback effort but the surge against Minnesota came too late and the Gophers took the Indians' measure 35-21 after building a 35-7 lead.

WINNING SPIRIT

Quarterback Bobby Duhon, who as a sophomore last season became the first Tulane player to top the 1,000-yard total offense mark in more than a decade, has 245 yards in his first two games, as his club exhibits a new winning spirit.

After a 2-8 season a year ago, Tulane beat Virginia Tech 13-0 and upset Texas A&M 21-13. Not since 1949 had a Green Wave football club won its first two games and that year it won three at the start.

With the return to action of offensive guard Mike Cammarata, the visitors come West at full strength. With Duhon in the starting backfield are Pete Johns at left half, Jim Trahan at right half and Tim Coughlin at fullback.

Despite its 2-0 record, Tulane will be a touchdown underdog at the 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

49er Johnson To Conduct Clinic At Terra Linda

San Francisco 49er defensive back Jim Johnson will conduct a special clinic tomorrow, starting at 2 p.m., to help boys prepare for the Punt, Pass and Kick national contest.

The clinic will be held at Bernard Hoffman School in Terra Linda. The contest, open to boys 8 through 13, will be Oct. 8 at Hoffman School.

Undaunted Anglers Brave Heavy Winds To Catch Limits Of Bass

STEVENS

Considering the tornado type winds on Tuesday, one would hardly expect any boat, skiff or cruiser, to get fish, or even leave the harbor. Yet, the R.S.P. had a party of seven turn up. Coming back to the harbor at the Berkeley pier, the R.S.P. unloaded seven limits of nice stripers to 15 pounds from Red Rock and Racoon Strait. Doris Marshall of Lee Anderson's in Oakland also told me the Duke No. 2 took six limits to 14 pounds, rolling the Sisters area, and the Anna V. took 7 limits working the same area as the R.S.P. Doris also reported the boat Chinook boating 18 salmon to 30 pounds in Middle Grounds sector.

TALKING WITH Nadine Lessley of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor I learned that Tuesday's high winds discouraged many of the regulars from fishing for stripers in the Upper San Pablo Bay, but Johnny Sivera drove to the upper Suisun Bay and took three nice sturgeon.

PRIOR TO the gale-force wind of Tuesday, very few boats came back without dandy catches of stripers trolling with very light sinkers or without any sinker. Limits of sizable bass far outranked the few who failed to make the grade. Charley Smeltz, Harbor Master at Dowrelio's, limited out the end of last week and again on Monday of this week. "Some of the private boats, skiffs and cruisers, didn't leave until around 10:30 a.m. but came back with limits," reported Nadine. A private skiff was back with limits on Wednesday by 9:30 a.m.

CARL BENNETT of the Rodeo Marina waxed eloquent in reporting an exceptionally productive weekend. "Trolling off the Hercules wharf in 8 to 10 feet of water with no sinker was wonderful," said Carl. Pet spoons with pork rind tail-bait was the prevailing hardware used, and the fish ran heavy—to a top of 32 pounds landed by Don Webb of Oakland. C. O. Prendergast with his brother, T. L. of Castro Valley and Jim Green of Hayward and Lynn Fenton of Newark had 11 stripers to 26 pounds. Rudy and Ellen Lopez showed four bass to 18 pounds.

MOST OF the stripers were taken by trolling, but quite a few fell to bullheads.

A report from Don's Bait House at Clearlake Highlands states black bass and catfish had been very active until Wednesday when strong winds slowed fishing down. "Fish deep for crappies," I was told.

BETTY URBAIS phoned to report Rockfishing at the Farallones very good. "The Blue Horizon netted over 800 rockfish and 18 lings to 20 pounds on Saturday," she said. The Blue Horizon on Monday boated 16 salmon to 35 pounds and the New Merimac also had 16 salmon with top fish weighing 20 pounds. Area fished was between Lightship and Muir Beach.

Today is Friday, Sept. 30, the 273rd day of 1966 with 92 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter; the morning stars are Mars, Saturn, and Jupiter; the evening star is Saturn.

Roman Emperor Pompey The Great was born on this day in 106 B.C.

On this day in history

In 1938, Germany, France, Britain and Italy met in Munich for the conference which British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain later said promised "peace in our time."

In 1946, 22 Nazi leaders were found guilty of war crimes in the Nuremberg trials and 11 sentenced to death.

In 1962, two persons were killed as riots marked the integration of the University of Mississippi.

WINNING BRIDGE

Pure Guesswork Doesn't Exist; Hear Those Silences In Bids

"There is no such thing as a sheer guess in bridge," Waldemar von Zedtwitz insists.

As the winner of some 20 national championships in a tournament career of more than 40 years, he should know what he is talking about.

Opening lead — ◇ 9

The bidding made it obvious that a spade or heart opening lead would do declarer's work.

West knew he had to lead a club or a diamond to have any chance of beating the slam.

FUTILE DECISION

Seeing no distinction between the 9-8-7-4 of diamonds and the 9-8-7-4 of clubs, West tossed a mental coin and hit upon a diamond lead.

This won him the Futility Prize of the Month.

NO PEEK NEEDED

West doesn't have to peek to find the best lead.

There is a clear reason for choosing a club rather than a diamond.

East had his chance to double five diamonds if he needed a diamond opening lead.

East's failure to double five diamonds showed that he wasn't desperate for a diamond lead, but it was still possible that he was desperate for a club lead.

The clue came not from what happened in the bidding but from what did not happen.

The true expert must have an ear that can hear his partner keeping quiet.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold:

♠ 7 5
♥ K 8
♦ J 10 5 3 2
♣ K Q 10 2

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one notrump.

You cannot quite afford to bid two clubs or two diamonds with only nine points in high cards and only an indifferent fit for partner's suit.

Change a small spade into a small heart (so that you have a singleton spade and three hearts), and your hand would be strong enough for a response of two clubs or diamonds.

Wall Street Weathers Selloff For A Gain

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held a slight gain at the close today, having survived a plunge which brought it below the Aug. 29 lows, but only temporarily.

Stocks weathered a brisk selloff around midsession and rebounded almost immediately. It looked as if the market had passed what was thought to be a severe test, but the passing grade was by no means 100 per cent.

Many key stocks such as General Motors, U.S. Steel and Texaco withstood the selling drive and were showing smalls gains in late dealings.

Plenty of losers remained in the list but on balance the market had done pretty well, brokers said.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6.4 million shares compared with 6.11 million yesterday.

At midsession the Dow Jones industrial average was down 6.02 to 766.64—smashing through the closing low of 767.03 made Aug. 29 — but the penetration was only temporary and "bargain hunters" raced back into the market to erase the loss and give the Dow industrials a small gain on average.

Analysts looked at the decline and recovery as a kind of "selling climax"—a term which is used charily on Wall Street —meaning that selling has exhausted itself and buyers have come back in to pick up stock at relatively cheap levels.

KLM Airlines, which sank 10½ points as the most-active stock yesterday, rebounded more than 3 points.

Fairchild Camera and Xerox rose more than a point each, IBM and Polaroid about 3 each, Zenith, Eastman Kodak, General Electric and Merck a point apiece.

Corning Glass sank 5 points, Continental Air Lines 3, Burroughs and Braniff Airways more than 2 each.

Stop Signs Needed Along Teachers' One-Way Street

Superintendent John G. Bunker of Novato Unified School District had some cogent remarks not long ago relative to the "one-way street" nature of teacher contracts.

The established system, Bunker observed, makes it possible for a teacher to accept a contract for a succeeding year which guarantees him a continuing job, but leaves him free to hunt for a better offer elsewhere. If and when he or she finds a better offer elsewhere, it is pretty much a matter of form to resign and obtain a release from the earlier signed contract.

This situation, Bunker pointed out, produces last minute vacancies which are difficult to fill. "We get inferior teachers who have not been able to get a position earlier," he told the Novato board of trustees.

He recommended that a cut-off date be set after which resignations would NOT be accepted. This is sound, but whether it would be enforceable as a pratical matter would have to be determined by experience.

The same situation is true of school district superintendents. They, too, can agree to a renewal of contract which guarantees them continuation of their job. At the same time, they, too, can shop around for a better offer and accept it if it comes.

The professional organizations of teachers and superintendents ought to recognize that taking advantage of the "one-way street" contract is morally and ethically wrong, unbecoming a person who regards himself as a mem ber of a profession.

The State Board of Education and/or the Legislature should give the matter attention, so as to make teacher and superintendent contracts enforceable "both ways."

Support Women Voters League

Our form of representative self-government works only as well as we, the people, make it work. Unless we remain well informed and exert an informed influence, things can get out of hand rapidly.

Thus it is that organizations which attempt to keep people informed about the workings of our ever-more complex government are increasingly necessary and valuable. Similarly, organizations which urge their members to exert informed influences on our government are increasingly necessary and valuable.

The League of Women Voters performs both of these functions admirably.

At the moment, the League is concerning itself on the national and international scene with the subject of human relations putting particular emphasis on Red China, about which far too many Americans know far too little.

On the state and national level, the League presently has water — how to insure adequate supplies of pollution-free water — at the top of its agenda. This is another area that too frequently gets less attention than it deserves.

On the local scene, the League is studying duplication and overlapping of governmental services as between city and county, etc.

This is an area where every taxpayer has a stake. Every taxpayer must be wishing that the League will, directly or indirectly, bring about some improvement.

Each year Marin's two Leagues conduct drives for modest amounts of funds to carry on their work. These drives deserve the support of all. At the moment, the Southern Marin League is soliciting support contributions. Their efforts are necessary to good government; they deserve the support of all.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Some Altered Circumstances Make Highway Budget Unique

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The California Highway Commission recently adopted a $930 million budget for 1967-68 and some of the circumstances surrounding its adoption were a bit unique.

For one thing, actual adoption of the spending program was up in the air until the last minute. Two members of the commission, Joseph Houghteling and Alexander Pope, both relatively new members, were in disagreement over several items. They have been in disagreement with other commission members on most everything in recent months.

FOR ANOTHER thing, it was the first time the budget was based on an accrual accounting system. Robert B. Bradford, transportation agency administrator and chairman of the commission, explained that this meant that some of the money provided for expenditure could not be spent.

Some $26 million which is being used to finance the budget will not be paid into the state treasury until after the end of the fiscal year and thus could not be spent.

In the past, there always has been a carryover of funds from one fiscal year to the next, primarily because projects do not always progress and, while the money is there for them, it can't be paid until the work is completed. This year, there won't be so much carryover.

Presumably, if all projects were on time, there wouldn't be enough to pay them all off by the end of the year.

BECAUSE OF THIS, Bradford said it would be practically impossible to compare the total of the 1967-68 budget with the previous one. This is similar to pronouncements of Hale Champion, state director of finance. Each time a new budget is introduced by the governor, Champion argues that comparisons with previous years are not practical.

The Capitol press corps, just as regularly, disagrees with Champion's thinking. The reporters feel there is considerable interest in how a new year's spending compares with the previous one and, no doubt, feel the taxpayers might be more interested in seeing such a comparison than they would in the technical reasons why this is impossible.

In still another area, this budget provided somewhat of a surprise. The total available for expenditure was about $35 million less than had been expected earlier.

WHAT THE BILL also did, and this came out later, was provide for doubling the force of the California Highway Patrol. This was to be financed with an increase in driver's license fees.

After costs of doubling the CHP staff, plus administrative costs in the department of motor vehicles, it had been expected about $105 million would be left over to go into the highway fund.

As it turned out, costs involved in increasing the CHP were higher than expected.

The Artist's Liberation Front of S. F. appears to be made-up of the Stay-ins at S. F. State and other colleges, rather than drop-outs.

A stay-in is a professional student utilizing more than six to eight years for students occupational disease at the taxpayers expense. With this extended amount of learning or yearning for The Arts, something good possibly should develop out of the art displays of the S. F. Artist's Left-over Frustrates!

Volunteer Denies Museum Attic Mess

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I was astounded when I read the story in the Independent-Journal yesterday "Does Anyone Know What's In The Attic?," Sept. 26. Certainly the reporter had incorrect information.

I have worked as a volunteer at the Marin Historical Society museum and I know what has been stored in the attic. The books referred to in the article are the history of the English empire, can be found in any library and have no connection with Marin history. The maps are duplicates of ones on the first floor. The saddles are side saddles on which women rode. The stone artifacts and a metate will be displayed if and when space is available.

The reporter spoke of a rusty axe and a spade; certainly they have no historic value. The trophies are evidently the result of people cleaning their own houses and dumping things they didn't want at the museum. All pictures are displayed on the main floor, many behind glass The reporter neglected to mention a tray of blown bird's eggs. Even the Audubon Society refused it.

I marvel at the work Mr. Parker Wood is doing. In addition to keeping the museum open on regular days, he conducts tours of the museum for schools and adult education classes in the mornings and evenings. I know he has many letters to write, answering questions on historical matters from people in different parts of the country. The latest, I recall, was from a man who wanted to know the origin of the name Tomales.

It is true that the Historical Society was informed it would have sufficient space in the Civic Center. It seems with the millions being spent there, the county should give space for the historical museum, which has educational as well as historical value.

With the limited space at the museum, I believe there is an excellent nucleus. And have a look at the splendid collection of well bound early newspapers.

Series On Redwoods Got At Basic Facts

Editor, Independent-Journal:

You have had a fine series of editorials on the Redwood National Park issue. It is too much to expect that there should be complete unanimity on a subject so complicated and involving so many conflicting interests. But you are to be complimented on your attempt to get at the basic facts and to indicate what course is in the long-range public interest. . . .

Police Find Harness Can Save Lives

LOS ANGELES (SS)—Shoulder harnesses contribute significantly to the safety of automobile passengers.

A double-shoulder harness anchored at about shoulder height, used in combination with a lap seat belt, offers the highest measure of protection to persons involved in highway accidents, studies by the Los Angeles Police Department show.

In one case a police car slammed broadside into a utility pole with enough force to displace the entire rear section of the body from the frame. The driver reported that the door flew open when the car hit and then banged shut when his vehicle spun around. A double-shoulder harness kept him securely inside the car and unharmed by the swinging door.

However, tests of single strap harnesses on a dummy disclosed serious neck damage at impacts at high speeds in the range of 60 miles per hour.

J. L. Fulton of the Los Angeles Police Department reported that although restraining devices may not be a total solution to the problem of automobile safety, they certainly spare people from serious injury and death in many situations. In addition to being particularly valuable in protecting passengers involved in right angle collisions, they guard them against the dangers of faulty door locks, instrument panels, dashboards and glass.

Various types of seat belts have been used and tested by the Los Angeles police since 1950.

IN "THE BIG Spenders," Lucius Beebe tells of the days when the late Louis Hill of St. Paul, son of famed railroad tycoon James J. Hill, sent two identical vintage Rolls Royces, with chauffeurs and footmen to match, to meet expected guests at the railroad depot. Guests and their luggage were shown to one magnificent limousine while the other went on ahead empty. When guests demanded an explanation, they learned that only one of the beautiful old cars could make the steep hill on the way to the Hill mansion. The staff never knew which was the underpowered Rolls, so both were pressed into service.

After a spell, however, it got so darn hot that the corn began to pop. The air got so full of popped corn that it looked like a blizzard was raging. When Demarest's mule saw this, he lay down in his tracks and froze to death

Bobby Kennedy's Political Appeal Is Real As Midwest Tour Proved

ST. PAUL — Bobby Kennedy's grassroots popularity is no publicity gimmick. It's for real.

The excitement and enthusiasm which his very presence creates in crowds, which are nearly as large as in a presidential tour, do not go away when he does. They are not chaff in the political wind. The after-effects remain. They are visible everywhere in the wake of the three-state trip he has just finished here in the Midwest in behalf of Democratic candidates.

SENATOR KENNEDY'S evident popularity does not seem to rest on President Johnson's Gallup Poll unpopularity. It is a positive thing.

And here in Minnesota it does not rest on any supposed unpopularity of Vice President Hubert Humphrey in his home state where the Vice President remains a powerful political figure capable of doing more than anyone else to unite the Minnesota Democratic Farmer Labor Party after it split down the middle. The DFL leaders tried to dump Democratic Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag for renomination in favor of the young and over-eager Lieut. Gov. A. M. (Sandy) Keith. But in the Democratic primary the voters chose Rolvaag over Keith by nearly 3 to 1.

Humphrey is a healing agent and as a result the Democratic Farmer Labor Party, which he founded, is back in one piece — or almost — and Rolvaag now has a slightly better than even chance to defeat his Republican opponent, Harold LeVander, at a time when nationally the tide is running with the Republicans.

BUT KENNEDY'S voter-appeal is a thing of itself—a thing apart. It manifests itself at two levels:

It draws and excites and animates large audiences. It intoxicates youngsters, under and over the voting age.

The people in his crowds feel his presence; they want to see him, touch him, hear him, and the applause would probably be just as great if he did nothing but count from one to a hundred.

The Democratic politicians just about unanimously count him the most valuable national figure they can get into their campaigns.

There is no Democratic candidate I have talked with who doesn't eagerly want Bobby to cam paign in his behalf and with rare exceptions they will tell you privately that if they had to choose between getting campaign help from either President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey or Kennedy, their first choice is Kennedy. Ideally they want all three and they count the presence of Johnson and Humphrey a plus.

KENNEDY'S EASY, turn-aside answer to questions about his political intentions does not leave his audience in any doubt. He gracefully remarks that his intention is to "be a good Senator" and the only doubt that seems to remain is whether he plans to challenge LBJ in 1968 or wait for the easier opening in 1972.

But the professional politicians do not overlook the uncertainties and pitfalls which lie across Kennedy's path. The overwhelming consensus, as I find it, is that Bobby would have no chance of taking the nomination away from LBJ in 1968, that Mr. Johnson is almost certain to keep Humphrey as his running-mate and that if Humphrey should move into the White House before 1972, Kennedy would not likely be able to take the Presidential nomination away from him.

One thing which isn't in doubt is that an awful lot of voters want the chance to vote for another Kennedy for President.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Red China Faces Uphill U.N. Fight

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Red China will not gain admittance to the United Nations at this session. Although the U.S. barely staved that off last year on a tie 47-to-47 vote, it has more support this time—due largely to the violent internal upheaval in China.

With some modifications, Congress will approve President Johnson's proposed suspension of the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

Backstage head counts indicate there is sufficient bipartisan support in the House and Senate to put this anti-inflationary measure through. . . . Communist force in South Viet Nam will launch a series of strong attacks against U.S. forces shortly before the November election in this country. Their purpose will be to intensify U.S. opposition to the Viet Nam conflict. . . . Senator Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., who is voluntarily giving up her seat, will campaign for Representative Robert Duncan, Democratic senatorial nominee, who is opposed by Republican Governor Mark Hatfield. Duncan strongly supports the White House's position on the Viet Nam war; Hatfield is siding with Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., in vigorously opposing it.

THE JOHNSON administration will bow to the West German government and agree to remove the embargo on the sale of large-gauge oil pipe to Russia. This item is on the NATO ban list, and Bonn has been propositioned by the Kremlin on the purchase of 40-inch pipe to complete a 2,900-mile pipeline to Moscow. Paris is supporting Bonn on the matter, although keeping in the background because of strong U.S. antipathy to De Gaulle. . . .The with more than $1 million in its campaign chest, will give from $2,500 to $5,000 to GOP congressional candidates in 140 districts throughout the country. The club is headed by Representative Bob Wilson, Calif., who is also chairman of the House Republican Campaign Committee, which will contribute from $3,000 to $5,000 to incumbent GOP congressmen. . . . the FBI will continue to keep a staff of 21 in the Dominican Republic. About half of the group are FBI agents. The G-men are being retained at the request of the Dominican governent.

PRESIDENT De Gaulle's recent fanfared round-the-world tour has produced no tangible results — other than to boost him politically in his own country. The trip was a bust as far as accomplishing anything except publicity for De Gaulle. . . . Premier Kosygin will visit Pakistan in November. Russia is assiduously wooing Pakistan, which has received more than $3.2 billion in U.S. economic aid, and another $1.5 billion in military aid.

THE POWERFUL Society of Former FBI Agents is quietly mobilizing its 5,000 members for the slowly developing battle both in Congress and the administration over who will eventually replace J. Edgar Hoover.

While the former G-men are not proposing any one candidate, the society wants Hoover's successor picked from within the ranks of the FBI.

Two bills have been introduced in the House for this purpose. Sponsored by Reps. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., and Samuel Devine, R-Ohio, the measures would change the existing procedure under which the FBI director is selected by the attorney general. Instead, Hoover's successor would have to come from FBI ranks and be designated by the President and confirmed by the Senate.

In a memorandum to all the members, society president Robert Floyd called on them to contact their congressmen to urge them to support these measures.

Significantly, Floyd's message stresses that Hoover authorized the society to state that these bills "appear to have considerable merit."

Lady Bird Didn't Visit Mill Valley But There Were Many Letters

Everyone knows Lady Bird visited Point Reyes National Seashore last week, but few know she might have visited Mill Valley, too—a big "might," admittedly — but she was invited.

When Mayor Albert E. White heard the First Lady would be in the neighborhood, he did the nice thing and telegramed her an invitation to drop by his city. Not to chat, of course, but to try again to enlist her support in saving the fair city from the clutches of the Army Corps of Engineers.

THE MAYOR WROTE her a four-page appeal in August, after more than a year of unsuccessful efforts to make a dent in the corps' plan to convert Arroyo Corte Madera Del Presidio Creek into a concrete bathtub for almost two miles through the center of town.

"Mrs. Johnson asked me to thank you for your letter and enclosures," Bess Abell, Lady Bird's social secretary, wrote the mayor. "Preservation of our land's scenic heritage is of great importance to Mrs. Johnson. It is Mrs. Johnson's hope that as our nation grows it will have the wisdom to protect places of natural attractiveness like Mill Valley, and channel our growth in ways that enhance, and do not diminish, our surroundings.

"FROM A READING of the correspondence you forwarded," she continued, "it would appear that you are asking whether the Corps of Engineers has any techniques, other than the construction of concrete ditches, for reducing flood danger in the community of Mill Valley. While we are not in a position to answer that question, you certainly have every right to know the merits of alternative flood control measures for your community.

"We are forwarding your correspondence to Mr. Al Fitt, general counsel of the Army, in charge of civil functions, and you may expect to hear further from him in the near future.

"WITH APPRECIATION for your support of President and Mrs. Johnson's interest in preserving the beauty of America, sincerely, Bess Abell."

Several weeks passed, however, without another word from Washington, so Mayor White seized upon the chance of Lady Bird's visit to Marin to invite her.

"Mrs. Johnson asked me to tell you how much she appreciates the kind invitation to visit Mill Valley, California," Mrs. Abell wrote Mayor White on Sept. 16. "How delighted she is by your cordial expression of hospitality! Mrs. Johnson was greatly pleased that you would like her to visit your community and is so sorry her reply must be a disappointing one.

"REGRETTABLY, however, her schedule is full to overflowing and she is unable to make any additions to it. Please know that this makes her no less grateful for your thoughtfulness.

It must have been a nervous mayor last week, because the rejection of his invitation did not arrive until after Lady Bird's departure from the Bay Area late last week. Oddly, the letter was mailed first class, not via air mail. More surprising, Lady Bird does not have free franking privileges, though the 5-cent stamp appropriately was the one with old glory flying above the White House.

FINALLY, LAST week came Mr. Fitt's letter. Noting that "local people supported the need and desire for flood control in the community of Mill Valley," Fitt conceded that "the means of accomplishing flood protection was a point of wide disagreement."

Fitt reiterated the corps' promise that "coordination" of precise plans for the project can be arranged after congressional approval of the $4.3-million project. He explained that the proposed plan for a concrete bathtub (not his words) "is primarily intended to provide the corps of engineers' estimate to congress for the economic feasibility of providing flood relief to the community of Mill Valley. The proposed plan as outlined in a report is not intended to be an ironclad plan that could not be modified.

"INDEED, IF a project for flood control were authorized by Congress for Mill Valley and funds made available, final design studies would be undertaken, and again close and continuous coordination would be maintained with the City of Mill Valley and the County of Marin. During this time such modifications to the project as desired by the local community could be incorporated in the final plans, provided they were not of a magnitude which would jeopardize the over-all project feasibility and the sponsoring local entities were willing to bear any additional costs that might result from such modifications.

"I WANT TO assure you that the corps of engineers is approaching its planning task with empathy for the sociologic, ecologic and aesthetic values of the people inand near Mill Valley and will remain ready and willing to cooperate with you in that spirit within the limits of federal laws and policies."

It is precisely the federal policies, the policies of the corps, which are the nub of the battle between the corps and the city. Fitt noted the corps' "empathy" for aesthetic values, and the city fathers note the botched up job the corps did on Tamalpais Valley's Coyote Creek. The corps promises coordination, but the city fathers are unsure how much coordination they can expect from the corps once it gets local approval for the project.

LOCAL APPROVAL is the city's trump card; without it, the corps cannot start the project. If David had not had even his stone, how would he have fared against Goliath?

ART BUCHWALD

LBJ's Method Of Appointment May Make Choice Even Harder

WASHINGTON—The method used by President Johnson in announcing Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach's appointment as undersecretary of state has Washington very worried.

You may recall the President did not make the announcement until a reporter asked the question at a press conference.

The fear here is that if the President decides to break the news of all his appointments in this manner, and no one asks him the right question at a press conference, many important vacancies in the government may never be filled.

THIS WAS compounded by the President's statement that the more the press speculated about a certain individual for a job the less likelihood that person would have of getting the appointment.

If this is the case, perhaps we may never have an attorney general again.

"Mr. President, I don't like to push you, but it's been a year now and you still haven't announced who the attorney general is going to be."

"IT'S NOT MY fault. If the newspapers would stop speculating I could decide on somebody. But every time I think I've got someone they haven't heard of the name pops up in a column, and then I've got to eliminate him. I thought I had them when I decided to appoint Sandy Koufax to the job, but somehow Sports Illustrated got wind of it."

"Drew Pearson had it in one of his predictions, and I was darned if I was going to give him the satisfaction of being right," the President replied.

Another aide said, "I see where Evans and Novak said you would appoint George Hamilton."

"I WAS SORRY about that. George might have made a good atorney general."

"Mr. President, don't you think we ought to appoint someone as attorney general with legal experience?"

"I'd like to, but you know as well as I do that every lawyer we could possibly think of has already been suggested for the job by either a column or a newspaper. The more they speculate the harder it gets for me."

"Why couldn't we forget about the press and just appoint somebody to the job?"

"Not as long as I'm President. I'm not going to have anyone tell me who to appoint and who not to appoint. Besides, you lose the element of surprise."

"THE PRESIDENT'S right," an aide said. "We should be able to think of somebody that the press hasn't thought of."

"It's easier said than done," another aide said. "Remember when we were going to appoint Ed Sullivan and Variety heard about it?"

"There must be someone that no one has thought of."

Just then the phone rings. An aide picks it up and listens. Then he says to the President, "It's Hubert Humphrey. He wants to know if you still think highly of him."

The President picks up the phone. "Hubert, I've got a job for you. No, I can't tell you what it is, but tune in on my press conference this afternoon. I think you'll be in for a real surprise."

Two Airmen Honored For Traffic Control

S/Sgt. Jack L. Seymour, air traffic controller, and S/Sgt. Elzie Brazell Jr., maintenance technician of the 1902nd Communications Squadron at Hamilton Air Force Base have been named air traffic controller and maintenance men of the quarter by the squadron.

Each received a $50 award from the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and a plaque "in recognition of the important contribution to the safe and expeditious flow of air traffic in the Marin County area."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

County Administrator Office's Growth Was Watched For Years

FUSSELMAN

A wise old philosopher once said something about a picture being worth a thousand words. How right the old gentleman was. That dig deep picture which accompanied the article by Richard Lyttle, in the I-J a week ago yesterday, sure proved the point. This was the heading: "Civic Center Shuffle — County's Offices Outgrow Walls." . . . Then this caption under the picture: "EXPANDING OFFICE—This spacious office in the Civic Center is now occupied by the county administrator and his staff. But it is not large enough, and is being expanded into adjoining space."

Lyttle went on to say that everyone knew that government grew like Topsy but that here it is reaching a topsy-turvy rate. "One of the fastest-growing departments is that of the county administrator. While the number of county employees has increased by 107 per cent in 10 years, the administrator's office has increased by 400 per cent. . . .

"County Administrator Alan Bruce declared this is not a fair way to show it. He said subdepartments under his control—personnel, purchasing and central services—must be considered separately."

DON'T YOU believe it. My friends, I was there from the beginning and witnessed everything that happened—step by step — and continually called attention to what was going on.

Each of these departments was a brain child of his and his former boss, whom he succeeded.

After we had moved to the Civic Center, when he realized the picture that the mounting cost of his office was making for the taxpayers to view, he came to us and recommended a separation. I saw what his problem was and purposely asked, "You mean they shall be separate and individual departments, divorced from the administrator's office?"

"Oh, no," he said, "just in respect to budgeting. They still should report to me." This was a laugh—and I did. He not only has not divorced them but has continually tightened his control.

WHAT IS HAPPENING there is both amusing and pathetic as well as serious and expensive. It is a kind of dream world where the head man and his satellites seem to have the illusion that they are on a parity with the industrial leaders and tycoons who are managing the production of the solid tangibles of this real world of ours. What a deflation would take place if they did enter this real world—both in importance and resulting salary adjustments.

The administrator's office is budgeted for $112,251—The personnel office for $69,482—Purchasing for $35,703, or a total of $217,436. Ten years ago the total was $48,164. This is an increase of $169,272 for a year.

The product manufactured by this operation is your tax bill. The interesting thing is that you really don't have to buy it. This factory has never had a majority vote from you. It is operating by default.

You know, the Civic Center is somewhat the Brazilia of Marin—So far away that thousands of our people have never been out there. The oh's and ah's of the tourists who wander around are most conducive to a puffing out of the chests and a pushing out of the walls, with a self-indulgence of grandeur.

Next Summers Tests Announced

Test for Marin youths applying for summer jobs with the federal government next summer will be given Nov. 26, Jan. 7 and Feb. 4, Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-First District) announced yesterday.

Those wishing to take the test on one of those dates should write to the U.S. Civil Service Commission, 1900 E Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20425 and request announcement No. 401, "Office and Science Assistant Examination for 1967," he said.

Deadlines for applying for one of these tests are Oct. 21, Dec. 9 and Jan. 9, he said.

Marin School Board To Review Own Role

Marin County Board of Education, meeting at 8 p.m. Monday at the county schools office, 201 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, will review the role and functions of the board and the county superintendent of schools, a discussion suggested by trustee James A. Carroll at the board's last meeting.

The board will also discuss the effectiveness of its system of committees and consider a proposed contract to allow student nurses from University of California to work with pupils in the county kindergarten-mentally retarded program.

Marcos Says Meeting Was Asian Idea

TOKYO (AP) — Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos denied today that President Johnson conceived the idea of the coming seven-nation summit conference on Viet Nam.

"While I am flattered, I believe the Asians should be given credit for having thought of this," Marcos told a luncheon audience at the Foreign Correspondents Club of Japan.

"The trouble is that because the United States is so powerful, everything good has to come from the United States.

"This conference is an idea that has been percolating in Asia for some time."

Marcos proposed last Monday that the chiefs of government of all countries involved in the anti-Communist military effort in Viet Nam meet in the Philippines about Oct. 18. Because he made his proposal in Honolulu shortly after his visit to Washington, it was widely assumed that he was fronting for the U.S. President.

Johnson Gets Credit For Cultural Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who makes no claim to being a culture buff, has been told by two experts on the subject that his administration has done more than any other to advance the arts and humanities.

Johnson, who sometimes appears self-conscious about his naturally folksy manner, has yearned for wider recognition of his contributions to culture. He got twofold recognition last night.

Roger L. Stevens, chairman of the National Council for the Arts, called on Johnson and asserted that no administration ever did as much for the arts and humanities.

Then came another testimonial, from Dr. Barnaby C. Keeney, chairman of the National Foundation for the Humanities and former president of Brown University. He said no administration ever did more for the humanities in general and education in particular.

When Stevens and Keeney—both Johnson appointees—later reported all this to newsmen, they were asked about Johnson's reaction.

"He was delighted," said Stevens.

A former Broadway producer, Stevens said Johnson's position as a promoter of culture has been made secure by at least three developments:

Acquisition by the government, with Johnson taking a personal interest, of the art collection amassed by Uranium Tycoon Joseph H. Hirshhorn. The collection is valued at upwards of $50 million. Johnson has asked Congress to build a gallery to house it.

House Numbers Being Painted

More than 130 numbers were painted last Saturday in the Morningside area and the club plans to continue at least one day a month.

Donations from residents for this service will be used to help beautify San Anselmo.

Pope Vows Viet Peace Effort Without Limit

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Vatican disclosed today that Pope Paul's mission to Viet Nam carried a message in which the Pope promised to cooperate "without limits" to help bring peace to that war-torn land.

The message was carried by Archbishop Sergio Pignedoli, who headed the three-man pontifical mission that flew to Saigon Tuesday.

U.C. Adopts Non-Student New Rules

BERKELEY (AP)—New rules for non-students went into effect today at the University of California, the result of an 18-month study that resulted from the Free Speech Movement's campus disruption.

Chancellor Roger W. Heyns, who set the rules with advice from the Campus Rules Committee, said that non-students may be only inactive members of student organizations.

They are forbidden to hold office, solicit funds, pass out leaflets, sit alone behind card tables where leaflets are distributed or to issue statements in the name of the groups.

Argentina To Act On Plane Hijackers

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The Argentine government and the British ambassador agreed in principle Thursday night on the return of 48 Argentine citizens aboard an airliner which Argentine nationalists hijacked and forced to land in Britain's Falkland Islands.

Foreign Undersecretary Jorge Mazzinghi announced the tentative agreement after a meeting with Ambassador Michael J. Creswell. Mazzinghi gave no details but said the British government's approval was awaited.

Reports from Rio Gallegos, on the mainland across from the disputed islands, said several Argentine military planes had arrived there with a platoon of police.

President Juan Carlos Ongania said yesterday the hijackers would be put on trial. He disowned the raiders who said they wanted to occupy the islands for Argentina. Ongania said their action had damaged the country's international prestige, but he reasserted his country's claim to the Falklands.

The young hijackers, led by an attractive 27-year-old blonde, siezed the four-engine Argentine plane Wednesday and forced it to land on a race track at Port Stanley, capital of the Falklands. British officials took them under control, and there was no violence.

Law Would Limit Police Gun Use

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Assemblyman Mervyn M. Dymally (D-Los Angeles) Negro legislator seeking election to the state senate, has called for legislation requiring the immediate dismissal of policemen who discharge their weapons when their life is not in danger.

Dymally made the statement following the Tuesday night riot in San Francisco which started after a police officer shot a Negro who was fleeing from a stolen car.

"Police officers should not be allowed to be judge, jury and executioner," Dymally said. "I have asked the legislative counsel to draw up a bill for me to introduce when the session opens in January if I am returned to the legislature."

During 1965, approximately 1,360 people in the United States were killed in boating accidents, according to the National Automobile Club. Overloading proved to one of the major causes of these mishaps.

The first calliope had only eight keys, though later models had 32. A coal or wood-fired boiler furnished steam. Firm pressure on a key opened a valve, which sent steam coursing into a pitched pipe. Music of sorts came out of it.
